If War Vanished.
Music From the Sky.
Again: Don't Sell Short.
Pain and Suffering.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

THAT pact outlawing war is signed, and, for the present, nations seem to take it seriously.

Suppose the improbable SHOULD happen, and all nations suddenly abandon war. What would happen?

EARTH'S population has been regulated by WAR, DISEASE, FAMINE.

Machinery and better government have practically eliminated famine.

Science has almost eliminated the plagues that killed wholesale. No more "black death."

With war gone, what would prevent growth of population greater than the earth could sustain?

Divine wisdom, ruling the earth, is probably able to solve that problem as it has taken care of others, including the most difficult, how to keep populations GROWING in spite of war, plague and famine.

CLERKS, leaning out of windows, looked upward; taxicab drivers leaned out, looked up, hundreds of thousands in New York City yesterday got their first good, long look at the sky in some time.

An airplane radio up in the clouds was broadcasting music. A voice from the sky having attracted attention, said at decent interval: "There is not a cough in a carload."

WHAT would be said of that by Ruskin, who hated railroads because they spoiled the countryside?

We are not compelled to ride in railroad trains, but there is no escape from that statement about the carload of coughs.

Longfellow's prophecy, "The night shall be filled with music," is realized with "night" changed to day.

THIRTY-TWO American railroads report their July earnings showing an increase of 12.7 per cent net operating income.

If the railroads are not making money, the Interstate Commerce Commission fixes it so that they CAN make money.

Farmers lack that advantage.

WITH railroad and other stocks increasing their earnings, even usury promoted by the Federal Reserve powers, establishing an interest rate of 8 per cent, is unable to discourage buyers.

United States Steel yesterday went to a new high record, selling 119,800 shares, and other stocks kept soaring with it.

Once more, don't sell this country short. "It hath not yet been shown what we shall be," on the ticker and elsewhere.

THE REV. DR. AUER, who teaches philosophy at Tufts College, says men should not seek to AVOID pain and suffering, but to UNDERSTAND both.

That is better than the old theory that God actually wanted men to suffer.

WHEN anesthetics were first used, the clergy of Britain denounced them as interfering with God's wishes.

God wishes us to suffer when we have our legs cut off, and men must not interfere with His plans by using chloroform, thus cheating the Lord, said the preachers.

An ingenious doctor answered, to the confusion of clergymen, quoting the book of Genesis, asserting that the Lord was the one to use anesthetics when He "caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam" before removing one of Adam's ribs to make Eve.

Men should understand pain and suffering, of course, as the Reverend Philosopher Auer says. But they should also concentrate on eliminating both, by scientific means, and especially by abolishing poverty.

THE best thing in Herbert Hoover's speech of acceptance, the best thing said by any presidential candidate since Lincoln, was his statement expressing the hope that by giving every man a job, well paid, poverty may be made to disappear.

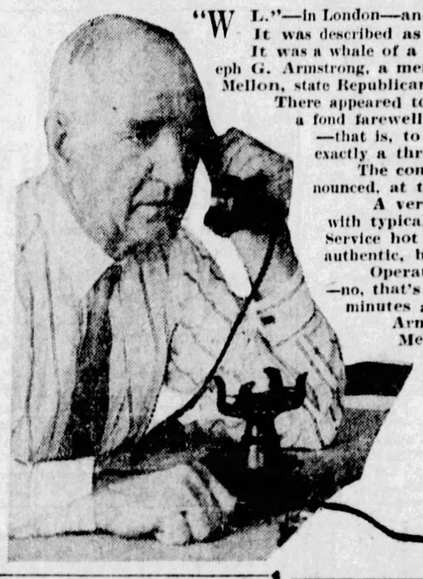
BRANDS VARE QUIZ HERE MERE PLOT TO GET VOTES

Says "W. L." to "Joe"—For Only $75!



"W. L."—in London—and "Joe"—in the Frick Annex here— had words today over the telephone. They were all kind ones.

It was described as the first political chat via trans-Atlantic telephone.

It was a whale of a success, financially, politically and conversationally. The characters were recorded officially as Joseph G. Armstrong, a member of the same Board of County Commissioners as Charles C. McGovern, and William Larimer Mellon, state Republican chairman.

There appeared to be as much privacy to the dialogue as to a flapper's diary. Two minutes after Joe had cooed a fond farewell, the political hangers-on were spreading the glad tidings that "W. L." had told Joe to "spend"—that is, to distribute as much currency as the occasion warrants for the coming campaign. This was not exactly a threatening letter to the boys and girls who sing "Who But Hoover!"

The conversation had all the odor of politics about it, although it was just yesterday that Joe had announced, at the Vare-Wilson hearing, "I'm not in politics."

A verbatim report of the conversation was not available through the regular channels. However, with typical initiative, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph obtained a transcript from the King Neptune News Service hot off the telephone cable on the ocean floor, and if the transcript doesn't strike you as being authentic, blame it all on those interfering mermaids!

Operator—W. L. Mellon is calling Joseph G. Armstrong from London and wishes him to pay for—no, that's wrong; he'll pay for the message himself. The charge will be seventy-five dollars for five minutes and I'd advise you to make it snappy. Don't use any big words.

Armstrong—Put him on, operator; I don't know any big ones.

Mellon—Hello, Joe, are you there? ($1.25 worth).

Armstrong—Yes, I'm still here. How's the fog? ($2.75).

Mellon—I don't bring dogs to London, Joe. How does the campaign look? ($5.00).

Armstrong—Well, Hoover passed through the other day and I had my picture taken with him and I testified in the Vare-Wilson thing, which is just one of those things. I told them I wasn't in politics and that put them all to bed. A real bedtime story. ($13.25).

HITS PROBE AS SCHEME TO HARM G. O. P.

Supporters of William B. Wilson are continuing the contest for the senatorial seat in an effort to discredit the Republican party in the 1928 campaign for the presidency, Howard A. Kelly, counsel for William S. Vare, charged at the hearing before the Senate sub-committee in the Courthouse today.

"This procedure affords an opportunity for those persons who always have a sense of criticism to use the highest legislative body in the world for the purpose of attacking the political efforts of the Republican organization, not only in Pennsylvania but throughout the country at a time when the nation is watching a campaign," said Kelly vigorously. "I ask the chairman not to permit the United States Senate to be used to further the interests of the other party."

Kelly's charge came after a heated legal controversy over the introduction of testimony relating to the seizure of several hundred illegal tax receipts during the Cavanaugh-Conroy battle for burgess of Homestead in 1925.

"FRAUD LINK"

John M. Henry, one of Wilson's attorneys, asked that the evidence be admitted, stating that while in the one instance alone it might be insufficient to prove conspiracy to defraud Wilson, it was one link in a chain that would show that fraud and corruption is practiced by the Republican organization.

"The Republican organization is not on trial here," said Charles B. Prichard, a Vare attorney. "This is an effort to introduce some mire for public consumption."

He argued that illegal tax receipts seized during a local fight in Homestead in 1925 would have no bearing on the Vare-Wilson battle a year later.

Senator C. K. Waterman, chairman, explained that he was not sitting as a judge, in which case he would rule the Homestead evidence as irrelevant, but as a representative of the entire Senate.

"I must not exclude any evidence that some gentleman in the near future may say I should have admitted," he said.

The argument started when assistant Federal Attorney Ralph H. Smith was called to the stand to explain his investigation of the Homestead episode when he was an assistant to District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner. As he took the stand Henry explained:

"We expect to show that men connected with the Republican organization circulated tax receipts illegally."

COUNSEL CLASH

The session today was stormy, one violent clash coming when Waterman ordered Rowland B. Mahany, another Wilson attorney, to cease questioning Miss Gertrude G. Trill, formerly head of a stenographic service, who was testifying concerning a check for $1,000 paid Lawrence Alvino, of the Italian Voters' League, and turned over to her in pursuance of arrangements made by former Republican State Chairman W. L. Mellon.

"I want to ascertain to what degree this witness has been coached in her testimony," said Mahany, this statement being

FLAG FOR POLE

A Pittsburgh contribution to the Byrd Antarctic expedition will be a crocheted American flag, which was carried through the World War by Corp. Miss Dawson, through the Ladies' Auxiliary of the United Spanish-American War Veterans, will ask Commander Byrd to drop the flag at the South Pole.

First place by Labor Day.

That is the aim of the fast stepping Pirates and it is altogether possible for them to attain that aim. Today they are six games behind the Cardinals, and in a tie for fourth place with the Reds.

The Giants and Cubs, occupying second and third place respectively, are within hailing distance by the Freebooters today when if things turn out right the Pirates can get a hold on second place.

Yesterday's happenings which pied the race even more than it has been jumbled for lo these many week's set the stage for bigger doings before the holiday.

The Bucs knocking off the Phils in a twin affair while the Giants felt the sting of their Boston farm gave the Oakland entry a full two-game advantage.

As the Reds were idle, the Bucs crept up on even terms. The Cubs' defeat at the hands of the Cardinals permitted the Corsairs to step up to within two points of the Bruins, and the Bushmen are practically tied for third place. Even though the Cards won, their lead was reduced by half a game.

Today the Bucs encounter the Phils, and fans are hoping for another victory. Cubs and Cards will again be clawing at each other, and Hornsby and his Brave crew will tangle with Jawn McGraw.

After today's contests there will be a new alignment of opponents. The Cardinals come here for three days and big doings are forecast. While these games are on, the Cubs and Reds are tangling and the Giants have to meet the Robins. Sunday the Cubs and Bucs clash, so if there is no slip-up on the plans of the Freebooters, they may rest in first place on Monday evening.

Are Pirates Hitting? Well, Look

One hundred and one hits in their last seven games—an average of more than 14 safe blows each nine innings—is the pace at which the Pirates are traveling today in their sensational drive for the flag.

In their last seven games the Bucs have faced 21 pitchers, and only Red Lucas, of Cincinnati, has lasted nine innings.

The batting averages of the first five men in the Pittsburgh batting order for the last 11 games follow:

Pgh. Train Wrecked; 1 Dead

CANTON, O., Aug. 29.—The engine of the Pennsylvania Railroad Chicago Express, Pittsburgh to Chicago, which left Pittsburgh at 8:05 this morning, was demolished, the fireman killed and the engineer badly scalded when the train struck a casting projecting from an eastbound freight shortly after noon today.

Because the express was traveling slowly through the city, the train remained on the rails and passengers suffered only from shock.

The crash came when the cab of the express caught a heavy casting which had partly slipped from a flat car on an adjoining track. The accident took place at Eighth street and Carnahan avenue, N. E., at 12:04, two minutes before the train was due at the Canton station.

Fireman Robert D. Shreve, of Alliance, O., was killed almost instantly. Engineer C. M. Creese, also of Alliance, was scalded, but stood at the throttle until the train was brought to a complete stop. He was taken to the Mercy Hospital. The casting was thrown by the impact into an adjoining field. Wrecking crews were at work removing the demolished engine.

Dapper Home Guarded

A tip that a "tall man," answering the description of the slayer of Dr. Harry R. Dapper, was loitering in the vicinity of the home of H. A. Dapper, father of the slain doctor, in Clifton boulevard, Carrick, resulted in police searching the neighborhood and the placing of an additional guard on the home today.

Yesterday a woman neighbor of the Dappers saw the suspected man, and when he approached her home and rang the bell she summoned the police. She did not open the door. She continued to watch, she told the police, and saw the man flee at the approach of officers.

At 2 o'clock this morning Mr. Dapper called County Detective Frank Ritz, who has been investigating the shooting, and said he thought the man had returned again. Ritz made a hurried trip to the Dapper home, but could find no trace of the suspect during an hour's search.

Today Dapper brought the shirt which he wore on the night of the murder to detective headquarters to show the mark where the revolver had been pressed against him.

County detectives today once more will visit the scene of the murder, hoping another examination of the ground may uncover a clue.

They will seek the bullet they believe passed through the body of the physician and dropped to the

11 Burned In 1st Aid Blast

BELLAIRE, O., Aug. 29.—Eleven men, including a physician, four firemen and six linemen, were burned by the explosion of an oxygen tank as they sought to revive William Keith, 45, lineman, electrocuted when he came in contact with a high tension wire here.

Keith, working on a tower in the northern end of Bellaire, where the Ohio Power Company's line crosses the Ohio river into West Virginia, came in contact with a line carrying 2,300 volts. Fellow linemen lowered the body to the ground.

Firemen were summoned with a pulmotor and an oxygen tank. While Dr. P. L. Ring was directing the resuscitation work, the oxygen tank exploded.

Fire Chief Charles Gratz and Firemen James Porter and Joseph Neurohr and Lineman Harry Archer were the most seriously burned. Others burned were Firemen Fred Getrost and Harold Sells and Linemen Walter Bauchnecht, Richard Kane, Eugene Roan and Harold Williams. All were taken to Bellaire Hospital.

'TWO BIT MOONEY' MAN GOES TO WORKHOUSE

William Fuller, Negro, who sold moonshine to customers at "two bits" a half pint at 46 Roberts way, was sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse today by Magistrate E. M. Hough in Morals Court. Fuller was arrested when police raided the place last night and confiscated 16 half-pints and a gallon jug of moonshine. Fuller told Magistrate Hough that he did not own but was employed to operate the place.

40 PLANES HUNT LOST FLIERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Forty airplanes organized to fly in giant fan formation were enlisted today in search for two men missing in a flight from Buffalo to Curtiss Field.

M. M. Merrill, manager of Curtiss Field, and Edwin M. Ronne, head of the Buffalo municipal airport, took off from Buffalo at 4 p. m. Monday in Col. Lindbergh's Curtiss Falcon. Many hours later no word of their landing had been received, although half an hour after their take-off a plane passed over Haskinville and a short time later in the gathering dusk a plane was seen over Ithaca.

The flight from Buffalo should have taken only two and one-half to three hours. When the airmen did not appear at Curtiss Field on schedule, little fear was felt as both men were expert pilots and it was supposed they had landed somewhere for the night.

SEARCHERS TAKE AIR

The first searching planes, eight commercial ships from Curtiss Field and three Army ships from Mitchel Field, took the air at 7:15 this morning to search the country between here and Ithaca.

The planes were the advance guard of what is expected to be the greatest concentration ever made of airplanes on such a mimssion. Between 30 and 40 ships will have left the field by noon, if plans carry through.

LED BY "CASEY" JONES

Led by "Casey" Jones, veteran commercial flier and president of the Curtiss flying service, the 11 planes took the air at minute intervals from 7:15, the first ones in the air circling the field until all were off the ground.

Joined by the three army planes from Mitchel Field the ships then formed a huge fan formation and rapidly disappeared into the north.

Each plane carried two observers, one to watch the terrain on each side. They will cover the route supposed to have been taken by Merrill and Ronne.

He died an hour later in the South Side Hospital.

The scaffolding was nailed to the wall of the house, and its collapse precipitated Grady through an open window on the second floor, uninjured.

NAB CARNEGIE SQUIRE IN RUM CHARGE AGAINST MOOSE

Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie, charged with violation of his parole as an officer of the Carnegie lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose, faces a possible jail sentence for contempt of court.

McMillen, secretary of the lodge, and George Miller, 36, steward on the premises, were placed under arrest following the periodical inspection of the Moose quarters by federal prohibition agents yesterday. The lodge was under a two-year parole and the agents allege they confiscated a quantity of liquor stored in the rooms.

McMillen filed bonds of $1,000 each in behalf of himself and Miller for a hearing before the United States commissioner on September 4 to answer the charge of violation of the parole. Prohibition authorities say that proof of the violation constitutes contempt of Federal Court.

McMillen today denied that any liquor is sold in the Moose lodge, declaring that he and other officers had observed their parole strictly.

"Prohibition agents found half a pint of whisky in the private room occupied by the steward," explained McMillen. "This room is his living quarters and the liquor was his own private property and was not for sale. I shall call at the office of Prohibition Director John D. Pennington and explain the entire matter."

According to the memorandum in the agents' report the half-pint of liquor was found behind the bar in the club.

Three other Moose lodges also will be charged with violating their paroles, prohibition agents say. These are at Washington, Tarentum and Braddock.

At Braddock Lodge No. 57, at 522 Braddock avenue, whisky, wine, gin, moonshine and ale were found, the agents reported. J. H. Klopp, 64, of 548 Braddock avenue, and Nick Glasser, 44, of 212 Comrie street, bartenders, were arrested. Bail was set at $1,000 each.

John L. Hart, 51, and William McBride, 42, who, agents say, are dictator and steward respectively of the Washington lodge, refused on the advice of their attorneys to give bail. They were lodged in the Central police station. John Porter, 35, found in the lodge at Washington, also was arrested. Beer, mash and a capping machine were confiscated, the raiders reported.

At Tarentum two barrels of beer were found in the basement of the lodge and samples, which proved to be high test beer, were taken, the Federal men stated. No arrests were made at the time, but it is expected that officers will be taken into custody today.

More than a score of other raids were made yesterday, including one on a curb at Lorrigan and Pearl streets, where whisky and beer were seized. The club was unoccupied. A saloon at 2500 Carson street was visited and Stanley Stasick, 37, and Joseph Pietnecki, 32, of 1813 Sidney street, arrested. Five women were among those taken into custody by the agents yesterday when raids were made upon their dwellings or places conducted by them.

BREAK GROUND

Officials of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway yesterday inspected the start of work on an extension of the line from Cochran Mills to Connellsville, which will form a new competitive system to the Atlantic seaboard. This group includes F. C. Baird (left), general manager of the road and former prohibition administrator for this district; H. H. Temple, chief engineer, and C. O. Dambaugh, superintendent, showing guests the site.

TO THE ATLANTIC!

Ground was broken yesterday on the first cut of the 38-mile line to be constructed at a cost of over $10,000,000. The road will be one of the greatest railroad construction projects ever attempted in this district and will supply Pittsburgh with a new trunk line to the Atlantic seaboard via Connellsville and Baltimore.

38-MILE STRETCH

A fill 70 feet high and a 25-foot concrete arch will form the first unit of the new route near Cochran Mills. The line will be cut through the hill in the background (see dotted line) and, when linked with the completed span, will close the 38-mile gap between the lines of the P. & W. Va. road and those of Western Maryland Railway.

BOOMS DOWNTOWN TRADE

Activity at the Wabash Terminal at Ferry street and Liberty avenue will be greatly increased when through freight starts moving to the east. The terminal was originally built before the segregation of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia from the Wabash. Its facilities have never been fully used. This new line advances a plan undertaken 20 years ago by the Gould interests as part of a transcontinental hookup.

PHILA. VOTE FOR SMITH, RURALS FOR HOOVER

The second large batch of returns from Philadelphia, showing Gov. Alfred E. Smith to be a heavy favorite among the Quaker City voters, increased the lead of the Democratic candidate by more than 100 votes over Herbert Hoover in the straw vote canvass conducted in Pennsylvania by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

rease was obtained in the strong returns from the ricts of the state. In ties the Republican can- received a vote nearly 2 to 1 over Smith and was well supported in suburban communities.

These leads were insufficient to overcome the Smith vote in Philadelphia, but considerably reduced the urban lead of the New York executive.

The ballots received from the first city of the state have come from various parts of the city and do not represent any section particularly. They show that women are well represented in support of Smith.

In rural counties Hoover is receiving staunch support from women as well as men.

The returns from Philadelphia continue to show a considerable drift from the vote for President Coolidge in 1924, evidence of numerous defections from the Republican party in that city.

The totals to date in the Pennsylvania poll, which is conducted in connection with the nation-wide canvass by the Hearst papers, are as follows: Smith, 3,089, including 1,801 men and 1,288 women; Hoover, 2,901, including 1,634 men and 1,267 women.

The vote in 1924 shown by these ballots was: Coolidge 3,904—2,203 men and 1,701 women; Davis, 403—258 men and 145 women; LaFollette, 857—537 men and 320 women.

Weather Conditions.

A well defined low pressure area, or storm center, overlies the Plains states this morning; lowest barometer, 29.84 inches, at Sioux City, and at Devils Lake. The disturbance produced showers and thunderstorms nearly everywhere in the plains from the Canadian border to Southern Kansas. The rains reported were light except at Charles City, Ia., where 1.14 inches fell. Light local showers occurred also at scattered places east of the Mississippi River, and in the far Southwest.

Relatively high pressure overlies the Gulf states and northward over the Ohio Valley states, and the lake region, and a more pronounced high has developed over the far Northwest. The temperatures are quite near the normal over the Plains states, but above normal over the East.

River Conditions.

The Monongahela and the Ohio rivers show slight rises, due to moderately heavy rains at the headwaters of the Monongahela on the 27th. The Allegheny is practically stationary. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.8 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.7, and Dam No. 6, 7.6 feet. The dams are up.

made after several tilts with opposing attorneys.

"I object to that remark," snapped Prichard.

"May I make a statement?" asked Wallerstein, chief counsel for Wilson.

"No statement is necessary," said Waterman.

"I submit that the chairman of the sub-committee cannot direct which counsel for Wilson should examine the witness," declared Wallerstein.

"I am in charge of this investigation," exclaimed the Senator. "You told me this morning you did not want this witness. I had this witness subpenaed and I am going to get what information she has if I have to question her myself."

Waterman then proceeded with examination of the witness, later turning her back to Mahaney to be further questioned.

When Mahaney got the witness again he said:

"Speaking in our own behalf, we protest against the action of the chairman in taking over the witness."

One of the first bits of information that came out during Miss Trill's examination today was that she and Alvino had met yesterday in the office of the County Commissioners.

Miss Trill denied this meeting was pre-arranged, but admitted exchanging two telephone calls with Alvino after he had testified concerning the check yesterday. She went to the office, she said, after hearing that her name had been brought into the testimony.

"Were you ever in W. L. Mellon's office?" she was asked.

"Yes."

"Did you speak to him personally?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever do any work there?"

"No."

She had called at Mellon's office to get the check in November, 1926, receiving it from A. E. Brice, his secretary. Then she took it to Alvino who indorsed it to her for mimeographing and mailing letters, giving Alvino a receipt.

Today Miss Trill testified the receipt for the check was genuine. Yesterday attorneys for Wilson had demanded that experts be called to give their opinion as to the age of this receipt.

She said this morning she had had an itemized account of the manner in which the $1,000 was spent, but that it had been destroyed.

County Treasurer John Francies was the first witness today. He testified 57 persons had paid their occupation taxes twice in 1926, the total amount involved being $79.

OPEN BRIDGE GATE TO WEST

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 29.—The Ft. Steuben Bridge, spanning the Ohio River between Steubenville and Hollidays Cove, W. Va., linking up a metropolitan population exceeding 120,000 and affording a direct highway between this district and Pittsburgh, is being dedicated today.

Participating in the exercises are city, county and state officials from the tristate territory, prominent industrial and financial leaders and 50,000 visitors from Pittsburgh, Eastern Ohio and the West Virginia Panhandle district.

Three luncheons were held at noon for guests. At one of these Mayor Oliver Conley, of Steubenville, entertained the mayors of 35 tristate cities and towns, while Service Director Walter Sterling was host to a gathering of engineers and state and federal highway officials.

The formal exercises were scheduled to take place on the bridge at 2:30 p. m. Congressman Frank Murphy, of the Eighteenth Ohio District, is chairman. Among the speakers were Meyers Cooper, Republican nominee for Governor in Ohio; Mark L. Davey, Ohio Democratic nominee for Governor, and Congressman Carl Bachmann, of Wheeling.

The ceremony of severing the traffic barrier ribbons is in charge of Miss Margaret Collins, of Steubenville, representing "Miss Ohio," and Miss Helen Cattrell, of Hollidays Cove, in the role of "Miss West Virginia." Following the exercises on the bridge a motor parade and a river demonstration are scheduled.

The bridge was built by the Dravo Construction Company, of Pittsburgh. It is a suspension span 1,676 feet long and is said to be the only bridge on the Ohio river with a concrete floor.

Two and one-half years have been spent in its construction and it is said to have cost $1,000,000. With the completion of the improvements on the old Steubenville pike, the bridge will afford a direct through highway between Pittsburgh and the West, reducing the existing route by more than 10 miles.

here from Philadelphia, Hadley Field, N. J., and other points will take off later in the day to join the search. The entire route from here to Ithaca has been blocked off into squares with each plane assigned a definite territory to cover.

The Sabelli plane, the Roma, being groomed for a trans-Atlantic flight, also joined the search, and was assigned Long Island as its territory.

The plane had been at the Buffalo airport having a burned-out bearing replaced, and it was believed quite probable that it might have gone wrong again on the flight. Merrill was flying it to Curtiss Field for Col. Lindbergh.

PENNA. HUNT ABANDONED

Search for a plane reported to have crashed in the mountains at Clark's Ferry, near Harrisburg, Pa., was abandoned today. Col. Ira M. Fravel, commandant of the United States Army aviation depot at Middletown, and members of the state police directing the search, said they believed that the report of the plane crash was erroneous.

With the aid of a searchlight on a fire truck, a party of 15 men, led by Lieut. H. A. Mill, of the air depot, and six state policemen, scoured the mountainside last night without finding a trace of a plane or damaged trees to indicate a falling body had struck them. The crash was reported by Mrs. Raymond Kirk, of Duncannon, across the Susquehanna River from Clark's Ferry. She said she saw the machine fall on the mountainside opposite her home.

When the search was abandoned at Clark's Ferry, Col. Fravel announced that Lieut. Mill and Lieut. O'Neill had been ordered to fly over the Susquehanna River as far as Sunbury, Pa., to search for the missing plane.

ENDS LIFE WITH GUN; KNIFE WOUNDS PUZZLE

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Police authorities here were puzzled today in their investigation into the death of John Zircich, 34, who was found dying in his boarding house yesterday. He died a little later. Neighbors said Zircich had been threatening to kill himself. Other occupants had fled from the house when he began acting "queerly." The detectives will investigate also the theory extended by Roy Barclay, private detective, who believes that Dapper was slain by a hired killer and that the machine was placed in a garage in the vicinity of the crime or in the surrounding district. Barclay visited the county detective bureau yesterday and talked with sleauths working on the case.

A nation-wide search for the physician's automobile in which the killer drove away from the scene of the crime, has been started by the detectives. A complete description of the car and the killer was sent throughout the country to newspapers by the local office of the Associated Press. The detectives also sent the same information to police departments of all principal cities.

The first judgments against alleged violators of the prohibition act for failure to pay a retail merchants' tax, were filed today in Federal Court, United States Attorney John D. Meyer brought action against 33 defendants for an aggregate of $53,729.82.

Suits against the defendants were brought by the Federal Internal Revenue Department. The alleged bootleggers ignored the suits, and when they failed to pay the tax imposed on them, judgments for the tax, fines and interest, were placed against them.

RENOMINATE JOHNSON IN LANDSLIDE VOTE

International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Incomplete returns today show that Senator Hiram W. Johnson swept the state with a gigantic vote in yesterday's primary for renomination as the Republican candidate for United States senator.

His total majority is expected to run so high as to reach into the record class. Some precincts for instance in San Francisco gave a 60-to-1 count for the senior senator.

Los Angeles sent in a ratio of 3 to 1 or better. Alameda county showed a ratio of 6 to 1 in his favor.

Charles H. Randall, of Los Angeles, former congressman, was the victim in this one-sided contest. Although Randall ran as a Republican, he is registered as a prohibitionist and ran in that party for the same office.

Randall also was opposed by Wiley J. Phillips for the prohibition nomination.

When assured of his nomination, Senator Johnson issued the following statement:

"I am extremely grateful to the people for the emphatic vote of confidence accorded me in this primary. It is my hope and my aspiration that my future course may justify it. I look forward in our state to a really united Republican party in the coming campaign, which will mean an overwhelming Republican victory in November."

Tablet Unveiled Where Lincoln Debated

WEST CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Seventy years ago yesterday Abraham Lincoln missed a train to Chicago, and consented to debate Stephen A. Douglas here.

On the spot where the resulting speeches were delivered, the West Chicago woman's club yesterday dedicated a large boulder with a bronze tablet. Seven persons who heard the Great Emancipator score slavery from a hayrack platform that day in 1858, were present at the exercises.

Lincoln had driven to Junction, Ill., as this town was then known, but arrived too late for his Chicago train. Friends persuaded him to go to the nearby grove where his opponent for the United States senatorship was speaking, and one of Illinois' historic debates resulted.

DEATH OCCURS AT BIARRITZ, FRANCE

Henry Chalfant, 62, chairman of the board of directors of Spang, Chalfant & Co., and an industrial leader here, died Monday in Biarritz, France, according to word received here yesterday from members of the Chalfant family who are spending the summer at York Harbor, Me. The family home is at 915 Ridge avenue, North Side.

Mr. Chalfant went to Europe early last month with Dr. Percy R. Kammerer, dean of Trinity Cathedral here. No details were received as to what caused his death, according to C. F. Cruciger, vice president and treasurer of the company, to whom the message was forwarded.

Mr. Chalfant was a member of the board of the First National Bank, the Peoples Savings and Trust Company, the Allegheny General Hospital and the Pittsburgh Club. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Harriet Chalfant; a son, Henry Chalfant, Jr.; two daughters, Martha and Eleanor Chalfant, and four sisters, Mrs. George W. McKee, Mrs. Walter S. Mitchell, Miss Eleanor and Miss Isabella Chalfant.

CABINET OFFICER'S TRAP SCORE PERFECT

SUPERIOR, Wis., Aug. 29.—(AP.) Roy O. West, secretary of the interior, reminds one of the story of a fellow who made a hole in one the first time he swung a golf club and felt much relieved because he thought he had missed the hole. The secretary started trapshooting with Mr. Coolidge. "I only shot once," he explained. "It hit the darn thing, so I thought I'd better call it a day. I didn't want to impair my amateur standing."

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THE "COMPANY" HOUSE

By LILA WANDEL

HENRY WHIPPLE hurried home with the pleasant feeling of having some news to tell. He tramped the long front hall, thence through the big, unused dining room, in and out of the pantry to the kitchen where Clara stood at the sink washing lettuce.

"Heard the news? The Renns are moving to the city."

Clara turned, asking breathlessly: "What's happened?"

"Nothing, except the firm wants Mr. Renn to have his office in the city. He'll be manager just the same. Guess with two able assistants like Tom Weeks and myself, the mill will run smoothly enough."

Clara's gray blue eyes gleamed with sudden joy. "Henry! if the Renns move then we'll get the manager's house! Tom Weeks hasn't a chance, he's only been with the firm nine years and you've been slaving for them nearly 20. Oh, that lovely house!"

Henry stopped unfolding his newspaper. He really had not given the "Company" house a throught. Clara was right, somebody would get the place—the nicest house in town. There was Tom Weeks, in charge of production at the mill, living with his wife and three children in a flat downtown. That Renn house with its fine big garden would mean a lot to Tom and his kiddies. The house was really too big for just Clara and himself—besides there would be the expense of new furniture.

"Henry" There was something in his wife's voice that made him attentive. "Can you imagine what this means to me? Twenty years of living in this dreary, old fashioned coop! I've hated it from the day we moved in. Getting the Renn place will be like living again, like going home."

Henry nodded pleasantly but all the while he was thinking what the Renn garden would mean to the Weeks' kiddies.

Next morning, with Clara's jubilant plans still ringing in his ears, Henry heard Tom Weeks explaining to a foreman how he intended to put up a slide for his children in the Renn yard. He went into such graphic details about sand-piles and swings that Henry could fairly see the three little Weekses having a most wonderful time.

Henry avoided Tom the rest of the day and then imagined that his old friend was not as cordial as usual. He felt uncomfortable and disturbed. Tom's friendship meant a lot to him; he loved the Weeks children, too. They had had so many glorious outings and picnics together.

"Tomorrow morning, Henry," said Clara just before they retired, "I want you to speak to Mr. Renn about the house. Agnes Week has been floating some perfectly ridiculous rumors that they are going to have the place! Imagine!" Clara laughed, the rippling laughter of a happy child.

When Henry came out of Mr. Renn's private office next day he was conscious of a tremendous disloyalty to Clara. He told himself there had not been an opportunity to approach his chief about living quarters. A few hours later when he saw Tom Weeks, radiant, striding out of the same office, he realized that the production superintendent had won.

He walked home slowly, despising himself. He felt that he had failed Clara, who had never failed him. Always, vaguely, he had dreamed of giving her a beautiful home, but somehow they had stayed on in that ugly, inconvenient house set so close to the narrow street. All the things that had prevented his plans from coming true came forcefully to his mind. That unfortunate investment—Clara had warned him, but afterwards she never had said, "I told you so." Then money saved again and Clara had spent weeks over bungalow plans, but he had craved an automobile. One day on the spur of the moment he had bought a car and Clara had not spoiled his pleasure with a cross word or look. Then the trip to Florida with his lodge and the next year he had traded in his roadster for a sedan.

This Renn house would have been a golden opportunity. No rent to pay, electricity from the mill and a garage on the place. Clara could have kept a maid!

Another thing depressed him. The pleasant, intimate friendship with the Weeks family would be over now. All the happy times together would be just memories, and in business the rift in their friendship would be felt daily.

In the front hall Clara met her husband with pink cheeks and intensely eager eyes. "What did he say?" she wanted to know at once.

"Didn't get a chance to speak to Renn about the house," Henry mumbled, avoiding her eyes.

Behind his newspaper he ate his supper, or made a pretense of eating, wishing that Clara would speak and tell him how he had disappointed her again. How could she ever believe in him when he always failed her?

Suddenly they heard the front door open noisily. A patter of little feet and the booming of voices broke in on them.

Clara's fork dropped with a clatter and Henry's newspaper slipped to the floor. The whole Weeks family had come—to tell them of their good fortune. Something very much like terror swept through Henry. He might hope that Clara would forgive him, but he knew she would not forgive Tom, who had robbed her of her dream. A wild desire came over Henry to flee from the scene. Then he felt a hand on his own, a pressure so warm, so reassuring that he swiftly raised his panic-stricken eyes. Clara was smiling at him, telling him in one quick understanding glance that she would be a "sport."

"Hello, folks!" he heard Clara greeting the Weeks family cordially as if no issue existed between them.

"We're early, I know," beamed Agnes, "but we just had to come over and tell you the news!"

"Sit down. Have a piece of chocolate cake," begged Clara. "No, Dot, darling, you can't have pickles, but here's a cookie. Now, Tom, tell us all about the Renn place."

Henry's eyes fixed upon Clara in adoring admiration; he felt himself relaxing deliciously, too intent upon Clara to hear what Tom said.

"Clara," Tom swallowed his first bite of cake and then turned triumphantly to his hostess, "I asked Mr. Renn about the house today and he told me the firm is going to remodel it into two first-class apartments—the place is so big. You folks are to have the upper part and we the lower. The garden we'll share together. Won't that be great, Clara?"

OAKLAND GROUP TOLD VIEW IS BRIGHT

Political issues are too vague to disturb business and the prospects for the coming year are exceedingly bright, M. E. Zetterholm, Pittsburgh district manager for the Oakland Motor Car Company, told 250 Western Pennsylvania and Northern West Virginia Oakland-Pontiac dealers at their annual meeting yesterday in Webster Hall.

Mr. Zetterholm continued: "The fall outlook for the automotive industry is decidedly brighter than a year ago and should make the year 1928 one of the best in the history of the industry.

He said Oakland-Pontiac plans call for the production of more than 500,000 cars this coming year.

Mr. Zetterholm commended this part of his district on the enviable sales gains made in both the Oakland and Pontiac lines during the last year. Among the subjects discussed were the enlarged advertising campaign for 1928-29; used car merchandising; better service; the replacement market; special values improved Pontiac six, and the extensive plans laid for the Oakland All-American Six during the coming months.

Others who addressed the meeting were: L. J. Marsh, regional sales manager, and C. W. Mellen, assistant district manager.

DODGE CROSSES COUNTRY IN 76 HOURS

Across the continent by automobile in 76 hours and 13 minutes!

This is not a mark set in a professional attempt to make a new record, but the astonishing feat of a tool salesman who found it necessary for business reasons to drive his own car from Los Angeles to New York in the fastest possible time, says F. D. Saupp, Dodge distributor.

Racing across country in specially equipped cars, under special police escort and under the most favorable conditions for the sole purpose of "beating time" is now a thing of the past, for Harold M. Fenwick, of Philadelphia, has established a new record for an owner-driven car.

Fenwick was certain his Dodge Brothers Victory Six car, with a mileage of 12,487 miles and which he had driven to the west coast, could turn right around and take him to New York hours ahead of the fastest train schedule. Sharing this idea was his companion, G. W. Brinck. The two shook hands and were officially checked out of Los Angeles at 7:47 p. m. August 1.

Hair raising experiences intervened until they were officially checked in New York at 3 o'clock the morning of August 5, just 76 hours and 13 minutes later.

And new thousands of Dodge Brothers owners are joining these millions every week.

Production and sales continue steadily to mount. Dodge Brothers vast and imposing factory resources continue to expand.

Faith in the integrity and progressive genius of Dodge Brothers continues to entrench itself more deeply than ever in the public consciousness.

It becomes increasingly evident that Dodge Brothers great and distinguished past is steadily projecting itself into a still more illustrious future.

A good name becomes better still with every motor car that is shipped from Dodge Brothers Works.

Style has joined hands with dependability, in the swift advance of Dodge quality to higher and ever higher levels.

Dodge Brothers three great Sixes — The Standard, The Victory and The Senior — exemplify today the logical and brilliant flowering of those sturdy ideals on which Dodge Brothers Works was founded fourteen years ago.

BUGS BAER Says

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

WHEN a resident of the Sovereign State of Washington whips out a concealed deadly flask your feet are your best friends after all.

A still blew up in that neck-of-the-woods last week and the fragments hung up new non-stop records.

That Western moonshine is as dangerous as pins in baby's first clothes.

We don't know what they make it of but we do know that every time an Oregon lightning bug sits down on a pearly dew drop on a rose there is an explosion.

After the pulverization of the still the flames swept down the road and set fire to the village postoffice. It set fire to the first-class mail. The postmaster delivered 32 postcards to different houses.

The postcards were smoldering. The result was that 32 homes were burned loose from their instalments.

But even then the evaporation failed to keep pace with the absorption. The flames ran along a wire fence for 400 yards like electricity and entered a stand of timber.

They swept through the forest for two miles, reaching a magazine loaded with dynamite. We still fail to see why dynamite was essential in a neighborhood where they make moonshine that will run along a barbed wire fence.

It required the efforts of 2,000 volunteer firefighters to keep that high voltage moonshine away from the powder cache. Then the fire skipped after another town and the firemen worked all night to save that.

Boy, that Washington stuff is the juice that blew the canvas off the covered wagon.

The moral is do not allow the children to play with matches.

We don't know what they put into their moonshine out in the Golden West, but one drop of it would make Mary's lamb pick its teeth on a porcupine's back.

It may be the climate, the giant redwoods, the big Hood River apples or it may be civic pride. Whatever it is, when it is all mixed together you have got to put it in a Standard Oil tank and use the sky for a lid.

Washington wins the 1928 Nobel prize for science and research. We have heard of moonshine before but never of such powerful alkali as this.

One drop turns a man red, green, purple, pink and blue and makes him look as if he had been sunburned by a rainbow.

Any stuff that can burn down a town, start a forest fire and get 2,000 volunteer firemen away from their pinochle games must be admired, if not respected.

We bend the knee to the State of Washington, but not the elbow.

MILK AND ICE FUND NOW UP OVER $2,000 MARK

Two thousand dollars, did we say? Well, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund today totals $2,036.56 and seven gifts have brought it up to that amount. There is listed a check for $18.25 from a group of Termon avenue and Brighton road children who gave an entertainment and conducted a sale in order to assist the babies for whom the fund is maintained.

Then, next in size comes $10.50 contributed by Millie Cohen, Sidney Brown, Helen Magidson, Sylvan Ives and Eugene Cohen, whose Raleigh street benefit netted them that amount.

Three gifts, each of $5, come from J. M. Russell, Mrs. Emma J. Long and Emma L. Long and two little friends of the fund, Dickie and Jimmie McGarvey, have jointly contributed $2.25. This they raised by selling home-made root beer to some men who were doing construction work near their home in Phillips avenue. Donna May Henderson's gift of $1 completes today's list.

COLEMAN HEADS HOOVER BOARD

Former Congressman William H. Coleman, of McKeesport, will be chairman of the campaign committee for Hoover and Curtis in Allegheny county.

This announcement was made by Republican County Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong last night at a meeting of nearly 400 men and women, including county and city officials and prominent political leaders from all parts of the county, in Hotel Henry.

More than a score of extemporaneous speeches were made, all of the speakers expressing confidence of a big Republican majority over Smith and Robinson here, but warning against overconfidence. Coleman, who once was Mayor of McKeesport and later Clerk of Courts, stated that headquarters would be opened at Hotel Henry in a few days.

Pasteur
His Work Lives After Him

The story of medicine since Pasteur reads like a romance. A wonderful story of achievement, of work and struggle, disappointment and hope. A constant fight against ignorance, which cloaked diseases. Though no longer living, the influence of his noble lifework, zeal and devotion will never die, but will live on forever, for those upon whom his mantle has fallen, carry on the work as conscientiously as he did, being attracted by the same motives.

BLOOD CELL SERUMS
were developed after years of exhaustive and painstaking research work. Their therapeutic value has been conclusively proven. The missing protein substance is supplied to the impoverished blood stream and raises the count of white cells. When you realize that most of the cases we treat are chronic cases, you will appreciate the great work our Laboratory is performing.

There are always patients in the reception room for the newcomers to talk with and learn what Blood Cell Serum is doing to help them.

We are successfully treating such diseases as Anaemia, Asthma, Rheumatism, Kidney and Stomach Troubles, High Blood Pressure, Neuritis, Acne, Nervous Disorders, Impure Blood, Skin and Chronic Diseases, Catarrh of the Nose, Throat and Ear.

Reliable Laboratory Examination of Blood or Urinalysis Free.

One serum affords immediate relief. Chronic cases which have long resisted treatment yield quickly. Our physicians make NO CHARGE. Patients pay only for the Serum they take. Everybody pays the same price for the same serum.

STAGE AND SCREEN ACTIVITIES DETAILED IN PICTURES AND GOSSIP ABOUT PLAYERS

August Beats June as Month Of Romance as Film Actresses Finally Make Up Their Minds

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.

JUNE in Hollywood wasn't so conspicuous for the number of its brides, but these past few days the girls seem to have succeeded in making up their minds. The latest, Lena Malena, who is working with Leatrice Joy in "Tropic Madness," takes time out to announce that she will marry Manfred Noa, the German director, as soon as her film is finished. Lena plans to commit matrimony in Berlin, where she goes to make some pictures. Manfred nearly lost out with his fiancee when another romance threatened after her rescue of Melbourne Spurr, the photographer, in a near-drowning incident. The company for which Lena will work in Berlin is the same which is making pictures with the famous Chinese flapper Anna May Wong.

In addition to this romance, Jacqueline Logan has just surprised her friends by becoming a Mrs. . . . Priscilla Bonner will take the step in a day or so. . . . Lina Basquette and Pev Marley are as much in evidence as ever. . . . Alice Mills will be Mrs. Bill Davey before the year is up. . . . Even Clara Bow is reported listening to Cupid, displaying interest in a popular young physician.

They'd better keep Fany Brice busy if they hope to keep her in Hollywood. All is okeh when Broadday's sweetheart is on the job at the studio, but loafing between pictures gives Fannie the Brooklyn blues. She has made several Vitaphone numbers for the Warners, and they do say that projection room showing resulted in all studio officials rolling about the floor in convulsions of laughter. Her line in "Camille" about "I'm an awful bad girl, but such good company," and the one in "Mrs. Cohen at the Seashore" about "Come, Abie, dig a grave for papa" are household words in Hollywood.

I hear that Paul Whiteman may come out soon with a Fox contract in his pocket. Also that Tommy Lyman is almost on his way. And Tex Guinan is due any minute now. Looks like the line of the old song, "Gee, but ain't this a lonesome town" will apply to New York. Even Will Rogers is reported scheduled to do a "yellie" for Paramount.

A group of "People Who Know" were discussing the selection of Lina Basquette for the misfit role in "The Godless Girl," and some one spoke up to say that originally the story had nothing to do with any religious issue, but dealt with the dissemination of Soviet propaganda. This idea, so 'twas said, was effectively squelched by the government, and the religious question hastily submitted. Lina, of course, would be ideal as a tense, emotional and courageous beauty steeped in political revolution.

The contracts of both Jack Gilbert and Richard Barthelmess expire in December. It looks like John will renew with Metro. But I hear tell that perhaps Dick will go over to Paramount, where "An American Tragedy" is still on the shelf waiting for him to do it.

The role that John Barrymore was supposed to play in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" has been given to Ralph Forbes, the young Briton, who, incidentally has a background of Cambridge University. Ralph, as you know, is Mr. Ruth Chatterton, off screen, or at least Ruth is Mrs. Ralph Forbes.

Doris Anderson, pretty enough to star in films instead of writing them, is the author of "Rodeo Romance," which is the tentative title of the third picture in which Fay Wray and Gary Cooper will be featured. It will be the first of Fay's pictures since she became Mrs. John Monk Saunders.

Buddy Rogers, who is still called Buddy despite Paramount's attempts to get every one to call him Charles, is scheduled to do his next picture under the direction of Richard Jones—J. Richard Jones, to be exact. No name has been chosen for the story, but they have selected a leading lady. The other half of love's young dream will be Mary Brian, who remains one of the most popular girls on the Paramount lot so far as a host of jobholders are concerned.

Whatever the cause may be, it is apparent that Esther Ralson will be taken from the cast of "The Case of Lena Smith," which Von Sternberg is to direct, and given the leading role in "High Society," which is more the type of thing she has been doing.

PITTSBURGH FACES -:- AND OTHERS YOU MEET -:- IN THESPIAN HALLS

Hardie Albright, Pittsburgh boy, and Anne Forrest, former local stock star, opened Monday on Broadway in Willard Mack's "Gang War."

Mary Brian, movie star, takes a day off from the studio and visits a California orange grove.

Two old-timers are here—William Farnum, screen idol of another day, and Alec Francis, who continues prominent in the movies. They will support John Barrymore in "Hamlet," on the stage.

JUNGLE FILM FOR NIXON

"Simba," the film of African wild animal life, opens next Monday, Labor Day, for a two-week engagement in the Nixon. The picture was made by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, who spent four years in the interior of Africa filming the production. Its local presentation is being sponsored by the Carnegie Museum.

The seat sale opens tomorrow for the Alvin's first attraction of the season—"Burlesque," a comedy drama. The production will open in that theater with a matinee Labor Day. The cast is headed by Hal Skelly and Barbara Stanwyck.

The George Sharp Players will close their second season of summer stock in the Pitt next week with the presentation of "Nightie Night," a comedy. There will be three matinees—Monday, Thursday and Saturday.

"Question Night" Feature in Olympic

During the performance tonight of Dr. M. Sayle Taylor's production, "Married Love," in the Olympic, an unusual feature will be presented in connection with the customary program. This feature marks what is known as "Question Night." At that time Dr. Taylor and his associate, Dr. William McKay Davidson, will answer any question from the platform which pertains to love, health, beauty, charm or marriage.

A question box has been installed in the lobby of the theater for patrons to deposit their queries.

The performances for women only end Saturday night, after which men only will be admitted. Another special midnight show for men will be given this Sunday.

ROYCE ORCHESTRA IN NOVELTY NUMBERS

Bob Royce and his Mid-West orchestra, in addition to furnishing the regular dance music in Sanders, present numerous specialty numbers. Don't fool yourself

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Halitosis makes you unpopular

If you are not as popular as you wish to be, look for the cause. Possibly it is halitosis (unpleasant breath)—the unpardonable social offense.

It is impossible for you to tell when you have halitosis. It never announces itself to you.

The one way to be sure of not having it is to rinse the mouth systematically every day with Listerine—especially before meeting others.

Listerine immediately checks halitosis because it is a powerful deodorant. Even vigorous odors like that of onion and fish yield to it.

Keep a bottle handy in home and office. Use it every day. It puts you on the polite, popular and profitable side. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

HAD TO WORK TOO HARD

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Gave Her Strength

Mt. Carmel, Pa.—"After my second baby was born I had to work too hard and be on my feet too soon because my husband was ill. After his death I was in such a weakened and run-down condition that nothing seemed to help me. I am starting the fourth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel a great deal better. I am much stronger and don't get so tired out when I wash or work hard. I do housekeeping and dressmaking and I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound. I am willing to answer letters."—Mrs. Gertrude Butts, 414 S. Market St., Mt. Carmel, Pa.

How To Be Beautiful by Maria Jeritza

Lovely Lips

THE other day I saw a lovely young girl on the street. She was beautiful of figure, face and complexion, and the sheen of health was on her hair as it slipped from beneath a tight, modish cap. I have not a doubt that her lips also are exquisitely formed and colored by nature. But like a grotesque mask concealing their expression and color, a great gash of lipstick was plastered on her mouth.

MARIA JERITZA

Rouge and lipstick were intended to be used with discretion and artistic effect in order to conceal deficiencies of nature. The wrong shade of rouge, applied too thickly and obviously, will make even the prettiest girl look like a caricature.

If you have naturally healthy, rose-colored lips, you do not need lip rouge, and it will detract from instead of enhance your beauty. The sensible course, in case your pale lips signify ill health or a run-down system, is to begin systematically to build up your health and vitality so that the blood will run warm and rosy through your lips and cheeks. But if you do decide to emphasize your lips by a dash of color, apply it, I beg of you, artistically, choosing a tint of rouge that exactly matches the natural color of your lips. You can determine this exact tint by moistening your lips and rubbing them gently with a bit of clean linen until they turn rosy. Then hold the lip-stick and your mouth before a hand-glass to see whether the two tints match. Make your selection by daylight for a daytime lipstick, and by electric light in chosing lip rouge for evening use.

Even in summer, the lips often grow dry in windy, dusty weather. At such a time it will freshen them wonderfully to wash them, then apply a little rose-colored pomade—not rouge—which should moisten and soothe them.

Be careful in applying rouge not to cover quite all of your lips, otherwise they will look larger than they are, for the rouge tends to spread. If your lips are thick and ungainly, do not, I beg of you, call attention to them by plastering them with thick red paste.

Lip rouge should not only match the natural coloring, but should, blend well with the colors of the costume. Cerise lips and a scarlet dress, for instance, would be hopelessly ugly together.

The lip muscles, like all others of the body, are more beautiful when strong and supple. Purse your lips together as if about to say "prunes," then pull them back as far as you can over your teeth. Repeat this exercise 20 times morning and evening to strengthen and slenderize flabby lips.

Inner serenity and a smile of spontaneous friendliness do more to beautify plain lips, however, than any exercise or plastic surgery. In fact, plastic surgery for the mouth is in most cases impractical and unsuccessful. A happy outlook on life should be cultivated if only for your beauty's sake.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

White Sulphur Springs Capitulates to Lure of That Most Amusing of Resort Events, the Costume Ball

WHEREVER there is a society resort, there one will find, after a little patient waiting, a costume ball. At Palm Beach, don't you think the fancy dress balls are the most amusing events of the whole "southern" season? Nearly everyone loves to "dress up." This secret delight is a pleasure that few of us outgrow when we leave childhood's things behind. Even at such a serious sport as a horse show, folks like to introduce a bit of fun, like the costume and riding party the William Christopher Robinsons are wont to give following the show at the Allegheny Country Club.

Nearly all the resorts this summer have had their costume balls, and now White Sulphur Springs has succumbed. On Friday night more than 200 guests gave one of the most beautiful costume balls ever seen at this West Virginia resort, I've been told. And a Pittsburgh woman won a prize for her costume.

Mrs. George Crawford, who was lovely in a court costume of the Louis XIV period, won third prize. And leading the grand march preceding the awarding of prizes was Thomas B. Paine, with Mrs. Walter G. Mortland, formerly of Pittsburgh.

Of course, the Eugene W. Pargnys were there, and Mr. Mortland.

AT the horse show which has just ended, you know, at Newport, Richard King Mellon won the permanent possession of the Lady Dixham trophy when his hunter, Highwayman, was judged the best of the champions at the show for the second year in succession. He has donated a similar trophy, news has reached us, to be known as the Highwayman Cup. It will be given to any exhibitor who wins the grand championship at the show for two years.

SOME of the very young sub-debs of Pittsburgh society have been winning honors at their summer camps. Constance Hillman, daughter of the James Frazer Hillmans, of Shady avenue, won the trophy for the junior water sports competition at Camp Mystic, Conn. The camp has just completed its fourteenth season. Betty Coolidge and Nancy Patterson also were at Camp Mystic this summer, and Mary Blair.

SOCIETY folks are again taking an interest in exclusively Pittsburgh events. A number of them will sponsor the Martin Johnson wild animal film "Simba," to be given for the first time Monday at the Nixon under the auspices of the Carnegie Museum. "Simba" is a pictorial record, you've probably heard already, of four adventurous years spent in the African jungles by the Martin Johnsons, big game camera hunters.

THE Lewis Parks are now in London, I hear, and will return home late in September. Of course you remember that Mrs. Park is the former Frances Schoen, daughter of Mrs. William Henry Schoen.

PAUL MELLON, son of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, is back from France, have you heard? He arrived in New York last night, I believe.

THE Rev. and Mrs. John Steele Duncan, of Mercer, have made known the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marian Logan Duncan, to Gerald Jenny, son of the Rev. and Mrs. John Jenny, of Milwaukee. The ceremony took place on August 22 in the home of the bride's sister. Miss Duncan was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Bell Duncan, and Mr. Jenny by James Bell, of Pittsburgh, as best man. After a Great Lakes trip Mr. and Mrs. Jenny will be at home on Calumet avenue, Chicago.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Mary E. Mattes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mattes, Lee street, Hamnet plan, Homestead, and Floyd E. Woodside, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Woodside, of Munhall, which took place Monday morning in the First Baptist Church of Homestead, with the Rev. A. J. R. Schumaker, of the Pittsburgh Baptist Association, officiating. Following a motor trip to Delaware Water Gap they will be at home in Munhall after September 15.

MISS ELIZABETH RUGH, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Rugh, and Miss Muriel Johnston, niece of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Rolf Brown, of Aspinwall, will spend their vacation at Lake Louise, Alta, Canada, with friends of the Rughs.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS POLLACK and their son, Frank, of Carl street, Mount Oliver, are motoring through the Great Lake district, and will visit in Chicago.

BELLEVUE CLUB OPENS SEASON ON OCTOBER 2

IN beginning its year's study of "Painting," the Woman's Literary Club of Bellevue will hear a talk on "The Relation of Art to Life," by Mrs. William A. McMaster, chairman of the fine arts department of the Congress of Clubs. This will be on president's day, October 2, for which Mrs. G. E. Campbell is to be the hostess. In addition to Mrs. McMaster's talk, there will be the address of the president, Mrs. Penn S. Spangler. Almost every conceivable phase of the study subject will be considered through the papers which the women will give at the program meetings—"Before the Curtain—the Thirteenth Century," "Early Italian Painting," "The Renaissance," "Technique of Painting," 'Schools of Northern Italy," "Christ in Art," "The Madonna," "The Flemish School," "German Painting," "Painting in France," "Portrait Painting," "Mural Painters," "Animal Painters," "The Sea in Pictures," "British Landscape Painters," "Woman in Art," and "Modern Movements in Painting" being among the assigned subjects. The club will, of course, visit the international art exhibit, the date for this event being October 30. November 20 is set aside as a guest day and the Christmas party is scheduled for December 18. Election of officers will occur April 2. The last meeting will be held on May 21.

AT the informal parties by means of which the Unitarian Alliance members keep in touch during the summer, little else is talked of but the comings and goings of the various women and their families. Mrs. Walter F. Ames and her daughter, Mrs. Shirley Mason, are home after six weeks spent in Europe. Mrs. Mason's husband, who had been in Turkey, joined them abroad and returned with them. Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hessenmueller, the latter a past president of the Alliance, enjoyed a boat trip from Cleveland to Duluth and motored back home. Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Howard were at Rehoboth Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Royce and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Reese at Ocean City, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hopkins are back now from a farm in Lisbon, O., where they were vacationing. Mr. and Mrs. Byron H. Chatto spent most of August in a mountain cabin near Ligonier.

THE program committee of the Dolly Madison Chapter, Daughters of 1812, is preparing a course of study on the causes of the War of 1812, which will be made a feature of the season's meetings. The regent, Miss A. Marian Cowen, entertained the board of directors at luncheon in the Woman's City Club Monday, when plans were made for the year. A benefit bridge will be held and there will be meetings to sew Christmas bags for the Red Cross and to make flags to illustrate the lecture on "The Evolution of the American Flag."

PITTSBURGH is well represented at the convention of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, which is in session now in Niagara Falls, Ontario. A special car left Pittsburgh Saturday with representatives aboard from this city and many other local delegates motored up to the convention city. Mrs. Frank J. Lanahan was in charge of transportation and Mrs. Stephen Q. Hayes of general reservations.

HEART BALM DEFENDANT DENIES WRECKING HOME

William Carson, of Laurel Gardens, defendant in a $25,000 alienation of affections suit, makes a denial of all charges in an affidavit of defense filed in Common Pleas Court.

Suit against Carson was instituted by John Russell, of West View, who alleged that Carson had stolen the affections of Russell's wife, Betty.

Carson, in his affidavit, denies he alienated or disturbed the affections of Mrs. Russell; that he had any associations with her that were improper; that he persuaded her in December, 1927, and for many months thereafter, to leave her husband, that he took her to a roadhouse or to Youngstown, O. Carson also denies giving her jewelry or having promoted an amateur theatrical with Mrs. Russell as the leading lady, as alleged.

He is not guilty of any of the charges made by the plaintiff, Carson sets forth, and he brands the accusations as "untrue and malicious, designed against his good name and reputation."

THEATER HEADS GRANT STRIKE DEMANDS

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—A dispute between owners of legitimate theaters and musicians was settled early today when the Theater Managers' Association signed a two-year contract granting union musicians an increase in pay from $77 to $90 a week.

Extra musicians and players in burlesque houses also were granted salary increase by the agreement, which affects 300 orchestra players.

Threatened difficulties in legitimate theaters showing "talking" movies were averted when owners granted demands of musicians that at least six players be retained in show houses whenever "talkies" are shown.

Large Loop movie houses and major neighborhood theaters will not be affected, it was pointed out, as they have contracts with the union which have a year to run.

The play, "Whispering Friends," which was prevented from opening Monday night because of failure of union leaders and the management of the Illinois Theater to reach an agreement, was given last night. The play calls for no music, but under the agreement reached with the union a 13-piece orchestra was in the pit and is to be retained during the run of the production.

FRENCH OCEAN HOP DELAYED

PARIS, Aug. 29.—(INS.)—Storms over the Atlantic caused the postponement of the latest attempt to span the ocean, which the French fliers, Jean Assolant and Rene Le Fevere had planned to make today. After everything was in readiness for the start, the two youthful aviators were disappointed to find that weather conditions were unfavorable and announced the postponement.

MAIL CARRIER'S MITE SWELLS HOSPITAL FUND

Although the public appeal in behalf of the new Allegheny General Hospital will not begin until October 29, a North Side mail carrier yesterday visited Dr. G. Walter Zulauf and offered to pledge $25 annually over the next five years. To date, the special gifts fund, including gifts by board members, their friends and special prospects throughout the city, has reached $2,900,000. Five million dollars is to be sought in order to begin construction of the $6,000,000 building, which will stand on North avenue facing the park. The structure will be 15 stories high, in addition to two smaller stories at the top, one housing elevator machinery.

Reduce Where You Want to Reduce

No Medicines, No Starvation Diet— No Dangerous Exercise

Discovery of infiltrating oxygen reducing cream—quickly and safely banishes double chins, and slenderizes big hips, fat waists, legs and arms.

ANY woman or man who wants to take off fat on any part of the body can now do so and safely. There is no question a proved fact.

...f oxygen reducing cream was purely ...at New York doctor asked three of ...al Chemists in New York to try to ... chronic skin troubles. (Colloidal ...emistry is one of the latest developments in chemical science.) These Colloidal Chemists prepared an infiltrating cream which would liberate oxygen when absorbed through the skin. They discovered that whenever the part to be treated was fat, this excess weight quickly disappeared. Reducing tests were then made on fat people with amazing results. One woman reduced her neck one inch in a few treatments; another two inches. Still another took off twenty-nine pounds in six weeks. Equally successful results were had in reducing fat waists, arms, legs, and big hips. So safe is Viaderma, as it is called, that it has the approval of chemists and physicians who oppose all other methods of quick fat reduction.

Viaderma is a golden brown cream, which is rubbed rapidly on the skin. You see the cream disappear at once, leaving a clean white foam on the skin surface. The penetrating cream carries oxygen to the fatty tissues and in a few days' time, this oxygen gradually melts away the excess fat. You get definite results from a single jar which contains an 18 days' supply.

POISON HINTED IN GIRL'S MYSTERY DEATH

The Prince of Wales — His Story.

Becomes Second Lieutenant During War and Strives For Active Service

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

His Royal Highness, Edward, Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, was born at White Lodge, Richmond, in midsummer of 1894. Guilty of much mischief during his childhood days, he was often punished. When he grew older he was sent to Osborne Naval College, where he made rapid strides in his studies. Investiture of his title took place at Carnarvon Castle, in Wales. During a visit to France he made a marked impression upon the people of that country. He was cheered upon his arrival at Oxford to begin his university education.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

EDWARD P.

By WALTER and LEONARD TOWNSEND

CHAPTER VIII.

Active Service.

ONE mild Sunday afternoon in November, 1914, King George secretly left Buckingham Palace in the company of his private secretary, Lord Stamfordham, and Col. Clive Wigram, His Majesty's Equerry. After reaching the Kentish coast, the little party was rowed across to where a large battleship lay at anchor and went on board.

PRINCE OF WALES

Twenty-four hours afterwards, the King's subjects were informed, to their surprise, delight and anxiety that His Majesty was in France and that his son, the Prince of Wales, had met him on the fields of battle.

The utmost secrecy was observed in the newspapers at the time, regarding the King's whereabouts.

The Prince looked very young when, by the side of Sir Pertab Singh, and behind his father, and King Albert of the Belgians, he watched the grand march-past of the Belgian troops in December, 1914.

The King and his son were in the midst of the bursting howitzer shells round Lille and Ypres and though there was a guard of airplanes continually circling round the head of the King during his stay in France, no such precautions were taken when H. R. H. went about his ordinary duties as A. D. C. to Field Marshal Sir John French.

Refuses High Rank

Accompanied by the Prince, King George cheered the wounded in the various base hospitals and at General Headquarters. The French Premier, M. Viviani, Gen. Joffre, and Raymond Poincare took the opportunity of motoring over to British headquarters and discussing the military position and the morale of both armies with His Majesty.

That night a dinner was held at the British Army Headquarters at which the Prince of Wales was present—the A. D. C. to Field Marshal Sir John French.

The Prince in his position as a junior officer did not contribute to the general conversation.

In the summer of 1914 H. R. H. was a pleasant, amiable personage, whose slight figure was portrayed periodically in the social news pages of the great London newspapers. There was little in those days to indicate the possession of a striking personality, of a nature imbued with sportsmanlike attributes—a nature eager to join in the democratic pursuits on the people and give a new meaning to Royalty.

Very little had been heard or chronicled of his activities and character.

He had realized from an early age the value of tradition, but the value of lively activity he had realized of more vital importance. So that, while the majority of the people regarded him as a romantic, unreal figure on the eve of the conflict, the young Prince of Wales was busy preparing himself to take his part in the Great War of the Nations.

Had he wished, the Prince could have been given a high rank in the Army, and joined Kitchener's staff in London, and still maintained his self-respect and that of the people.

Instead, Prince Edward chose to begin at the bottom and take his chance along with the rest.

Britain Incredulous

At first, the British nation was incredulous at the idea of the young Prince of Wales wanting to serve in an active capacity on the actual field of battle. They had expected that he would serve in England as a matter of course, and regarded the wishes of H. R. H. if the truth were told, as a laudable attempt on his part to appear willing to take risks which he well knew would never be granted him.

But when he persisted in his appeal to be sent to France and the public heard that the King and Queen put no obstacles in the way of the young Prince's wishes, they saw for the first time that the boyish Prince in their midst had indeed become a man. Admiration mixed with concern for his safety grew in the hearts of all Englishmen both at home and abroad. Everyone discussed the grave consequences that rested upon the Prince's going to France, and many pointed out that an exceedingly serious situation would arise if the Prince of Wales was killed in action.

The Prince had not underestimated the danger of modern warfare. His reply to Lord Kitchener on the question of going to the front was brief and comprehensive: "Have I not four brothers?"

"If I were certain you would be shot," replied Kitchener, "I do not know if I should be right to restrain you. What I cannot permit is the chance—which exists until we have a settled line—of the enemy securing you as a prisoner! You have a lot to learn about soldiering yet. When you have learnt a bit more—perhaps then you may go to France!"

Chastened by the words, the Prince accepted the great soldiers' ultimatum with good grace and set about to improve himself in Kitchener's estimation.

Made Second Lieutenant

His eagerness to fight proved, beyond doubt, his love towards his country. But it brought to light a more significant fact. . . . It showed that, unlike many princes before him, he did not live for the day when he would succeed his father and occupy the throne. "I have four brothers!" the young Prince had said:

"It will be a proud day for me when I leave Oxford to take up service in a regiment!" Edward said to his mother on one occasion.

On August 10, the Prince of Wales left Buckingham Palace and proceeded to Warlet Barracks to join the First Battalion of the Grenadier Guards, to which regiment he had two days previously been gazetted as a second lieutenant.

His energy and his personal interest in the men of his platoon was soon rewarded and he made rapid strides in his new career as a soldier. Although not excessively robust at this time, the Prince proved himself extraordinarily active and wiry.

In mid-September, when the Grenadier Guards were to leave for France, the Prince thought that his chance had at last come. For days he waited with excitement the appearance of his name "In Orders" to prepare to leave for the front. But a second time H. R. H. was doomed to be disappointed. Summoning him to his office one morning, his colonel informed him regretfully that he was not to take his platoon to France. In reply to the Prince's disappointed question he was once again informed that he was, as yet, not considered "quite prepared" for active service in France.

H. R. H. once again applied himself to his duties, with added vigor.

On one occasion, as the Prince, together with part of the First Battalion of the Grenadier Guards passed through London, he was recognized. Immediately vociferous cheers were raised, but, for once, the young soldier was unable to acknowledge the expression of loyalty. Now he was an officer in His Majesty's Forces.

To Be Continued.

GIRL'S DEATH PUZZLES; INSURANCE MAN HELD

HER LIPSS SILENT

Mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Irene Swanson, 24, of Campbelltown, have brought about an investigation. She died in Kane Summit Hospital last week.

AUTHORITIES PUZZLED

L. H. Gardner, insurance collector of Mt. Jewett, took the young woman to the home of his parents, where she remained all night without medical attention, although she was unconscious when he brought her in, his mother told authorities. An autopsy revealed that her heart had been affected, but the cause was declared to be unknown. A chemical analysis is being made at the instigation of the county coroner. (Above is photo of the Swanson home where the family has lived for 40 years.

TRACES CLUE

County Detective Jack Allison was called into the case when the girl died.

THREE-DAY LEAVE

The home of George Gardner at Mt. Jewitt (above), a few miles away from the Swanson farm. County authorities cannot understand why the insurance collector brought the unconscious young woman here instead of taking her to her own home. Gardner left Miss Swanson with his parents, presumably to get a physician, but he disappeared mysteriously for three days, police assert, finally giving himself up to Detective Allison. He is being held on his own recognizance pending the coroner's inquest.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

DAVE HECHT, of the Central Garage, downtown, was ragging a keen-witted fellow at Forbes Field the other day, when he heard this admonition: "Cut out the talking, Dave, you're getting your hands all sun-burned."

Bill Brosie, of Sharon, Pa., swims four or five miles for pleasure. The average swimmer, says Bill, goes wrong on account of bad breathing in the water, and also a tendency to keep the head well out of the water. He was discussing swimming just before taking off for a swim across Conneaut Lake. The way to swim long distances, says Brosie, is to inhale through the mouth, and exhale through the nose under water. Easier said than done.

NO SPORT has come into popularity faster than swimming. Pittsburgh supports many municipal pools and in the outlying sections there are large pools that do a big business. Swimming pools, of course, go bigger in Pittsburgh than they go in places better favored by natural facilities. Some of our river facilities for swimming had to be sacrificed in the building of the steel plants along the shores.

Kennywood and the Willows pool draw daily a large number of city folk, and in other parts of the county there are lively beaches for the cliff dwellers in town.

Real estate men will tell you of a jinx house in the East End section which cannot be rented or sold. There is a story that the house is haunted, and people in the neighborhood give the place a fishy eye when you inquire about it.

There are any number of persons who will tell you they have seen mysterious shadows stalk the portal and others recite how they heard chains rattle and low voices moaning. To investigate more thoroughly we plan to sleep in the house some night, or pretend to sleep, but we've had so much other stuff to do of late, we haven't got around to it. As for ghosts, we quit believing in them as long ago as last night.

PLINY, according to a correspondent, wrote a long time ago that fish could hear and would answer to their names. Ah, so that's the trouble. We called them by their wrong names.

Running into Arthur Burgoyne, former Pittsburgh newspaperman, son of an illustrious father, prompted a recalling of the elder Burgoyne. He was easily the most distinguished character in the history of Pittsburgh journalism. An expert musician, he also was an expert linguist. His hobby was translating Russian into English. He wrote and spoke 13 languages. He played various musical instruments, and wrote authoritatively of music. He was asked by Victor Herbert and Walter Damrosch to collaborate with them on proposed operas.

He could write capable verse in the same time a reporter could write a story in prose. He wrote a column in Pittsburgh over a long term of years. If disposed he could have been a national and international journalistic figure. He was content with local fame—which he had in abundance. No more accomplished man ever strutted the local journalistic stage.

ANOTHER veteran newspaperman recalls the late Morgan Gable, editorial writer for a long time on the Gazette Times. Two of his editorials on the Titanic disaster were copied by London papers and put on their front pages. His were given preference over editorials copied from papers in many of the larger cities of this country.

ALICE EASTLAND

Not all girls are so lucky as Alice Eastland, San Francisco debutante. She flew from her home town to Montecito, near Santa Barbara, with none other than Charles A. Lindbergh (remember him?) as her pilot. "Was I thrilled!" she exclaimed.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR OWN "TRAFFIC COP?"

RECOGNIZE HIM?

Honestly, now, if you were asked, could you tell the name of the traffic patrolman on your corner, the one who speaks to you when you pass by? The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, if you can't, will help you a bit. Each day there is published the photograph of one of the city's traffic officers. Here is one for today. His name tomorrow!

YESTERDAY'S "TRAFFIC COP" WAS MARTIN F. SANT, THE MAN WHO RULES YOUR DESTINY AT FORBES STREET AND SIXTH AVENUE. HE'S MARRIED, LIVES AT 325 HALE STREET AND HAS BEEN ON THE FORCE FOUR YEARS AND SIX MONTHS.

6 BODIES TAKEN FROM RUINS

SHELBY, N. C., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Six bodies had been recovered today from the wreckage of three buildings that collapsed yesterday in the business district of the town.

Twelve persons are known to have been injured, some of them seriously, and other bodies may be in the debris.

The known dead are:

Miss Ora Eskridge, Guy Green and Alex Hoyle, employes of the First National Bank, one of the buildings that gave way; Zeb Blanton and his son, Carl, farmers, who were customers at the bank, and Clyde Carpenter.

Among the injured were George Blanton, acting vice-president of the bank; Clarence Mull and Margaret Callahan.

Excavations under the Hadley tailor shop are thought to have caused the collapse.

DIVORCE ASKED BY WOMEN

Mary A. Casper, 320 McKees Place, married in 1920 and deserted, she says, in 1926, has filed a libel in divorce in Common Pleas Court against William Casper, whom she charges with cruel and barbarous treatment.

A similar charge is made by Lorenia C. Huebner, of 1924 Morrell street, against George H. Huebner. The couple were married in 1923.

Dorothy Rauh, 2347 Reed street, charges Albert Rauh with ill treatment. They were married in 1924.

Ruth C. Gray, 827 North Lincoln avenue, North Side, married in 1914, wants a divorce on the grounds of desertion.

SNOWBALL BUSH IN BLOOM TWICE IN YEAR

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 29.—The seasons may be changing in Mt. Pleasant, or maybe its just the plants. Anyhow, in the yard of William R. Harper, 934 West Main street, a large snowball bush is blooming for the second time this year.

WILLIAM P. MILLER

William P. Miller, 66, for many years a political leader on the South Side, died in his home, 119 Academy avenue, Mt. Lebanon.

HINT POISON IN GIRL'S MYSTERY DEATH

SMETHPORT, Pa., Aug. 29.—Irene Swanson, comely 24-year-old McKean county belle, died last week under mysterious circumstances—so mysterious in fact that the coroner, the county detective and the district attorney have set about to determine just who might have been responsible.

—And so mysterious that staid old residents of this quiet little county stay up until 10 o'clock at night to talk about it.

The facts of the case leave much to the imagination. Miss Swanson left the Bradford home where she was employed as companion to an aged woman apparently in the best of health. A scant two hours later L. H. Gardner, 48, prominent insurance collector of Mt. Jewett, carried her into the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gardner, also of Mt. Jewett. She was unconscious and efforts of the Gardners failed to revive her through the night. The next morning Miss Swanson's mother at Campbelltown, about three miles away, was notified and the young woman was rushed to the Kane Summit Hospital where she died without regaining consciousness. An autopsy revealed that Miss Swanson's heart had been affected, but the cause so far has been undetermined and an analysis is being made of the contents of her stomach in the fear that a powerful drug or poison might have been responsible.

Speculation over the young woman's death might not have arisen had it not been for the strange actions of Gardner after he took her to his parents' home.

GIVES SELF UP

He told his mother and father he met Miss Swanson in Bradford and offered to give her a lift to her home in Campbelltown. En route she became ill, he said, and he took her home. When his parents suggested calling a physician, he left, went to his own home, told his wife he came for his automobile driver's license and departed with the explanation that he was going to help a friend in trouble. He was not seen again until early Sunday morning when he walked into the home of County Detective Jack Allison to give himself up. He was released on his own recognizance, pending the coroner's inquest.

Allison's investigation revealed that Gardner and Miss Swanson had been friendly for several years. Gardner, the detective said, was known by the name "Leonard Ray," where Miss Swanson was employed in Bradford.

Belle Scheffer, 180 Davis street, Bradford, the semi-invalid who had been under Miss Swanson's care, told the detective that the young woman left the house about 7:30, telling her she would not be out late. About 8:30, Miss Scheffer said, "Ray" called and told her Miss Swanson had taken ill and would not be home.

The young woman's mother, still somewhat dazed by the suddenness of the whole thing, seems hardly able to understand. She and her son, Edgar O. Swanson, live on a small farm they have called home for 40 years. The father is in Jamestown where he has been working for more than a year.

"Irene came home Sunday before this terrible thing happened," she said sadly. "She was happy and didn't appear to have a care in the world. I can't imagine what happened to her—I know she wouldn't want to die."

Since his return Gardner has kept close to his home with his wife and two grown sons. He could not be seen yesterday and members of his family were indignant at the thought of suspicion against him.

WIRE KILLS WORKMAN AT OHIO RIVER DAM

Henry Gregory, 20, of Glen Willard, was shocked to death late yesterday, when he came in contact with a high tension wire while working on Dead Man's Island Dam at Stoops Ferry. According to the morgue report Gregory was employed by the United Gas Improvement Company. His home was in Louisport, Ky. His father is coming for the body, the deputies said.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 29.

I just found out by the papers why Coolidge wouldn't run again. His humiliation over his son John turning out to be a saxophone player was too much for him.

But wait till he finds out John maybe belongs to a fraternity. That would be the last straw.

I don't know anything about politics and nothing about machinery, but I do know that since General Motors have gone Democratic that my Buick won't pull a hill. And it is the same hill that it used to go up on high before Raskob went into politics.

OPERATIC presentations will dominate the air tonight. At 9 o'clock, during the Philco hour over KDKA, Victor Herbert's operetta, "Prince Ananias," will be offered. "From the Northland" will be the new "theme" program to be heard over the Columbia system, including WJAS at 9 o'clock. Songs of the North, of the winter wind, Jack Frost, etc., are to be rendered by a group of soloists, assisted by a symphony orchestra.

Folk songs and musical fairy tales will be featured in the half hour program by mixed quartet, to be heard over WCAE at 8 o'clock. Numbers will include Trotere's "In Old Madrid," the gavotte from Ambroise Thomas' "Mignon," and the hunting song from Bullard's "King Arthur." To augment the vocal selections, instrumental pieces by a string quintet will include the Komzak "Marchen" (fairy tale).

A cellist will be featured with the Sylvania Foresters over KDKA at 8:30 o'clock. "The Message of the Violin" and "Cavaliers' Song" will be the opening numbers, sung by a male quartet.

The ever-popular "Song of India" will be sung by Olive Palmer as a soprano solo in the Palmolive hour broadcast over WCAE at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday. In addition Miss Palmer will also sing the waltz from Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet." With her vocal running-mate, Paul Oliver, she will be heard also in a duet arrangement of the popular song, "How About It?"

He was one of the speakers at a banquet last night tendered the visitors at the University Club.

James F. Malone, president of city council, who yesterday celebrated his fiftieth birthday, also spoke at the banquet last night.

The speakers were introduced by Dr. Edward R. Weidlein, president of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and director of Mellon Institute here.

The visitors spent the day visiting points of interest and last night left for Wilmington, Del.

CRANE INJURIES KILL HOMESTEAD WORKMAN

Andy Milhodysick, 54, of 405 Elm way, Homestead, died this morning in the West Penn Hospital of injuries suffered yesterday when struck by a crane in the Carnegie steel plant at Homestead. He was employed as a laborer.

CAUGHT BY PULLEY WORKMAN IS KILLED

Caught between a belt and a pulley on the top of a co conveying machine, Keriakon Kratson, 37, of 512 Penn street, Verona, was crushed to death late yesterday. Kratson, employed at the Pennsylvania Water Company's pumping station at Nadine, where the accident occurred, was standing on an elevator at the top of the conveyor when the belt caught him, according to the coroner's report.

It's a TANTRUM

SMASH! Crash! Howl. Some days that child's like sunshine in the house, and some days she's like a tiny, bad-tempered tornado. Then there are broken dolls and damaged paint, broken bric-a-brac and upset chairs, tantrums and screaming fits and pinched fingers.

It's that kind of thing that sets tired nerves on edge, makes irritated tempers even more irritable. And yet no amount of playing or coaxing or petting will bring back Betty's laughter! Her mother knows why, but still hesitates about the remedy . . .

INTESTINAL poisons, of course, get bottled up in children's bodies just the same as they do in adults'. And mothers feel particularly unwilling to run the risk of shocking delicate little systems with ordinary laxatives . . .

Feen-a-mint is different!

In the first place, it's just like a bit of delicious chewing gum. You don't swallow it hastily, or wash it down with water—you chew it.

Because you chew it, its tasteless yet almost magically effective laxative principle is released slowly, the way science meant it to be released.

In this way Feen-a-mint works with the body, not against it, and instead of striking a blow without warning, as it were, helps the system to help itself. Laxative action is so gentle there's not a trace of griping or cramping, yet at the same time so wonderfully thorough that you feel like a different person!

Stop in at your druggist's for a box of Feen-a-mint. It won't torture you with griping pains. It won't poison or weaken the system. It won't enslave you to laxative pills. With it you can correct constipation —now!

Ione and Alan Both Feel The Necessity of More Money

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ione Farr, just out of high school, gets a position with Max Weimar, a music publishing house in New York. Her chum, Marie Karey, is engaged to Palmer Elliott, a young lawyer, whom she later marries. She is always holding up as a model Ione's married sister, Jenepher, who has a small son and also holds a fine position in a smart New York shop. Benz, Weimer's office manager, takes Ione to Tin Pan Alley, where she meets the famous song writer, Wolfie Speed. Ione falls in love with Alan Blake, an accompanist, and they plan to be married as soon as Blake can support her. She is inclined to be jealous of Fluff Harwick, a new girl in the office. She feels that Jenepher is proving that a wife cannot hold down a job and run a household and do both successfully. She tries to be nice to Fluff, but the latter repulses her and she has her first quarrel with Blake on account of her. At Marie's house for dinner they learn all about a 50-50 marriage. Benz makes further plans to advance Ione. He tells her jobs are not handed out through friendship but ability. Alan is made branch manager for his firm and gets a raise. He urges Ione to marry him at once. Ione insists, however, on giving her employer notice and the day is set for the wedding. Alan arrives and finds Ione in her bridal attire awaiting him. After the wedding they visit Alan's folks. The following week they return to the city and hunt for an apartment. Their first meal at home is very pleasant. Fluff Harwick is made Alan's secretary, but Ione tries not to be a suspicious wife. In order to keep within her budget, she tries laundering. Alan surprises her at the tubs and objects vigorously to her working.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

ALAN brought her for-get-me-nots, "Like your eyes, sweet Io. Ho—all dolled?" With his bonny smile, holding her at arm's length. "Beautiful you! Ready in a jiffy, now—"

She heard him splashing in the bathroom while she made him coffee; when she called him he was struggling with his dress tie. She thought him thrillingly handsome as she sat down, radiant as a young queen, behind the coffee pot.

A successful party; a lightsome, rollicking party in honor of a bride's birthday. She blew out the candles and cut the cake and they kept laughing all the time as if being 19 were a tremendous lot of fun.

And when it was over he said, "Get your wrap" with a fine air of mystery. She thought he was joking, but she put on the velvet wrap and the little, lace hat she wore at such times.

And he took her down the subway to Longacre Square and through the white lights to the gayest, brightest theater on all Broadway and straight down the aisles to an orchestra seat, grinning at her surprise.

How she loved it, sitting there with him watching the show hit of the season; looking over the dazzling gowns, the jewels; feeling herself all sparkle, ever turning back to his admiring glance.

A vivid evening all light and color, rushing like a song, too buoyant for a single wondering thought.

Not till she was sinking into sleep did she murmur happily, "Where'y' get the tickets, nice Lanny?"

"Tickets?" drowsily. "Oh—drew on next week's salary. G'night—"

She stirred, half opened her eyes, as one hearing a far-off alarm. But sleep was like folds of dusky velvet about her; she slipped back into its softness.

They were late getting up and had to scramble through breakfast. Then, before she did her work, she sat down at her desk and began to revise her menus. Alan had drawn about $15, she guessed, the seats would have been $5 each and there were the forget-me-nots, the darlings!

She made long rows of figures, adding, subtracting a few cents here and a few more there. It took her a whole hour to convince herself that her household finances were completely out of luck.

It had been a glorious evening; she loved Lanny for it. But they didn't have to have orchestra seats and, all said and done, a movie would have been almost as much fun. . . .

She sat a long time thinking and there was a pucker between the blue eyes. It was to be there often from that morning.

She took the Japanese basket and walked ten blocks to some out of the way markets where food stuffs were a tiny bit cheaper than in her neighborhood. And she developed an uncanny faculty for picking out inexpensive cuts of meat and for cooking up carrots and humble onions so they seemed rare important viands.

And she still managed with the one stew-kettle and washed out her dish towel every day.

When the gas bill came in she had to stand off the meat man.

But Ione was happy. Alan pushing home at night telling her how he was getting on—only a little while now till they'd be out in the sunshine of Easy Street! Their bright hope, their happiness together; more than all the feeling that he needed her so.

Still she always hesitated when he proposed a movie, she knew he noticed and was hurt.

And once, when they were out for a walk—the pucker had been especially deep that day—she refused a chocolate soda.

"Let's' go home, Lan. I'll make cocoa and there are some of Janey's tarts."

"Getting mercenary, Io? What's the use? Flipping it aside, she thought, as if there were nothing to be careful about. If he'd get over his silly pride—let her go back to work—they could have things like other young couples! That thought came stabbing into her mind. But she instantly was contrite. She pulled him into the soda shop. Doing all he could, wasn't he? She'd stick to her bargain and smile about it too! indeed!

Then a terrible thing happened. She was washing the egg-shell set, the joy of her heart, when the teapot slipped out of her hands and shattered on the sink. She picked up the pieces and held them while tears rolled down her cheeks and went splashing against the splinters.

She knew where Janey had got the dishes. She could buy a new tea-pot probably if she went right away before the stock was out. Three or four dollars no doubt—but the beautiful set was incomplete without it.

Distractedly she dipped into the household fund and hurried downtown. Tea-pots were five dollars, but now she was reckless. She paid for it and brought it home. Have to stand off the grocer. "And if only I can have a little luck," she told herself. "If nothing else happens for a while!"

It was about this time that a friendly hail brought Alan's glance up across his desk. Spooks Hill was strolling in; he had been on a visit to his home in the West and they had not seen each other since the wedding.

They started out together; Hill was to meet a friend at the Greek Letter Club so they had lunch there. When the bill was brought the friend wished to cash a check, but Hill was in a hurry.

"Let's make it Dutch," he said. "Cash enough between us for that, I expect."

Prices at the club were steep; Alan went back to the office with two nickels and a dime knocking together in his pocket.

He thought of drawing another five on his salary. But the bookkeeper was a typical long-faced, fishy-eyed chap; he hated to ask a second loan. This damnable poverty! Io seemed flush lately; she'd paid the installment on the furniture the other day. Maybe she would help a fellow out?

He put it off till breakfast the next morning. Then he made a great joke of it, telling how he'd been caught at the club with only enough for his lunch and not even a tip. "And how's the bank-roll holding out, Frills? Strong enough to loan your friend husband a couple of dollars?"

She gave him a white startled look and began to cry. Sobbing out the story of the tea-pot, calling herself extravagant and no kind of a wife for her dear, dear boy. . . .

"For the love of Mike! Lord bless us and listen to that angel-eyes! Why, I see I've to take her in hand. I see she's all worried and ill. There, now!" Roughing her hair, kissing away the tears, laughing.

Forfeit!

By Fanny Darrell

© 1928, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved

REMEMBER when you were a little girl and used to go to parties and they played "Forfeits?" What fun it was to sit there breathlessly and wait for the question, "Heavy, heavy what hangs over?" And you'd sit and wonder what would be the answer to your question, "Fine or superfine?"

And now that you're grown up you're still playing the same old game. Only this time it's a game with Love. "Fine or superfine?" Which will you choose. Will you choose the fine jewels and lovely motors and splendid gowns and all that wealth can buy—without Love? Or will you choose the superfine gold of a faithful heart?

The old game with a new meaning! Forfeits! If you choose one, you forfeit love. If you choose love, you forfeit riches. That is, most of the time. Sometimes you find both, but that's seldom. And of the two, wouldn't you rather have Love and Happiness? I would, and I'm sure you would too.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge, Returning the Locket, Is Strangely Interrupted

WHEN I reached The Larches there was no sign of anyone around the house and I hesitated for a long minute before the closed door, disliking to ring, with the remembrance of the physician's injunction against any noise, and also being reluctant to enter the house without ringing or knocking. Then Mrs. Ticer appeared, and with her assurance that "Aunt Anna" was no worse and that Miss Lincoln was still under the opiate, I sent Jim home, telling him that I would telephone when I wanted him to come after me, and followed Mrs. Ticer's ample figure up the stairs to the room where the young chatelaine of The Larches lay in her opiate-induced sleep.

"You don't need to worry any more about her," I told my neighbor. "I shall stay right here until she awakens, so that will set you free for your other duties."

"That'll help a lot," she said, with a sigh of relief. "I've got two trained nurses to wait on, and I'm about all in. But call me if you want anything."

"I can't imagine any need which will not be fulfilled by this chair near the window and one of those books in that case," I answered, my nerves tense with the desire for her departure. I could not restore the chain and miniature while she was in the room and I infinitely dreaded the possibility of Eleanor Lincoln's sudden awakening. Perhaps she was not as susceptible to opiates as the average person. Suppose she awakened before Mrs. Ticer left the room, missed her chain and pendant and asked about it! Should I produce it, or would that excite her suspicions? Would I better volunteer to go back to the house and search for it, and then bring it later to her?

Finally, however, Mrs. Ticer remembered a pudding in the kitchen oven and hurried out of the door. Waiting only until I was sure that she was safely below stairs, I closed the door behind her and tiptoeing over to the bed watched the sleeping figure upon it until I assured myself that she was indeed in the deep slumber induced by an opiate.

With infinite pains I drew the chain with pendant and miniature attached from my bag and, stooping over the sleeping girl, I opened her coat and scarf and put the jewels in a little heap inside her coat as if they had been caught there when the chain broke. She was in so deep a sleep that she did not even stir at my touch and I reflected ruefully that if I could have had a single chain link mended I could have lifted her head and adjusted the chain so that she never would have known it had left her person.

As I raised from my stooping position, I caught a little gleam of dancing light such as can be thrown by a piece of glass held at a certain angle in the sunlight to strike a mirror. I knew that there were no children at The Larches and Mrs. Ticer had said that her husband and son were in the fields and that Mr. Lincoln was with his sick wife. Thus every member of the household was accounted for and I went to the window and sitting down looked closely at everything within my vision. The incident was a trifling one, but the affairs at The Larches were certainly singular and I felt that Lillian would have approved my determination to investigate the peculiar flash of light which had been repeated two or three times since I first saw it.

There was no human being in sight, and no building near enough to house any mischievous boy flashing lights. I turned my attention next to the big trees which encircle The Larches and from which the place takes its name. But their spines are such that they would not afford concealment to anyone, and I turned my eyes away from them to an immense oak near the entrance gate which could have hidden a regiment, it seemed to me. My eyes are very keen and it did not take me long to catch a gleam of light from high up in the branches of the tree as of sunlight upon glass, and to realize that some unseen watcher wast training a pair of field glasses upon Eleanor Lincoln's room.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

MIXED GRILL

SOME girls appear to marry just in order to get a husband to tide them over for a year or so, until they can find some really vital interest in life.

If you can find a man with well-padded nerves, a perfect digestion and a liver that hits on all six, you need never worry about his heart or the sweetness of his temper.

* * *

Accumulating things was the passion of the Victorian era; but the only things a young couple seem to accumulate, these days, are debts, punctured tires and divorce decrees.

HELEN ROWLAND

Many a tired business man could get safely through the summer, without skidding from the straight and narrow path, if it were not for his effort to find some place "wild and wicked" enough to suit his respectable innocent visiting relatives from the country.

When a woman is feeling depressed, she doesn't know whether to go to a nerve-specialist or to a beauty parlor. Many a girl has been cured of a temporary heartache by a permanent wave.

Fame: Getting your picture in the rotogravure section, between a baseball star and a beautiful husband-shooter or a prize Pekingese.

It takes only three weeks for concrete to harden; but it takes a lot longer than that for a man's love to get firm and solid enough to hold up under the thought of tying himself to one woman for life.

Ask a man to give up his religion, relinquish his family, change his politics and even to shave off his mustache for you—but if you value his love, never ask him to give up his golf, his radio or his favorite comic strip.

The girl who analyzes a man may interest him—but it's the girl who idealizes him, that GETS him!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D.
U.S. Senator from New York

Do Eyes and Teeth Function Properly?

A FEW days ago I saw cardinal flowers growing down by the brook. This is a sure sign that school days will begin almost immediately.

The day after Labor Day is the beginning of school for most of our children. Before school is well begun is the time when every parent should give thought to the health of the young folks.

DR. COPELAND

What about the eyes? Are they in good condition?

Do not reach the comfortable conclusion that eyes are normal just because there is no consciousness that the vision is bad. As a matter of fact, some of the most pronounced cases of eye-strain are associated with eyes which seem to have exceptional seeing power.

In the eye is a wonderfully powerful focusing muscle. By its use the eye is forced to see very well indeed.

But to use this muscle every day is just like the baseball pitcher using his arm muscles until they refuse to go further. Then he gets a "glass arm" and can't throw at all.

The athlete may abuse his heart until the muscles give way. He develops "athletic heart" and is out of business.

The eyes may seem to have perfect vision and yet be under constant strain. Headache may be pronounced and made worse by reading or sewing. There may be pain in the neck, or, strange as it may seem, sickness at the stomach and even vomiting.

In short, eyestrain is capable of causing any number of symptoms. It may account, too, for apparent stupidity on the part of the pupil. Because of the difficulty of seeing well, it is impossible to carry on the necessary studies.

But we must think of more than the eyes. What about the teeth? Are they in perfect condition?

It is not alone the oculist who must be thought of, but the dentist must be kept in mind. Most of the absences from school are due to toothache. Let us head them off, by having the teeth in perfect order.

Are the feet in comfortable condition? Ingrowing toenails cause an agony of discomfort. The chiropodist or pediatrist can overcome these disabilities.

In this connection, do not forget the importance of well-fitting shoes. Perhaps during the summer loose and half wornout shoes have been worn. Make sure that the new school shoes are comfortable.

Think, too, about the ears and other parts of the body. Your doctor is a good friend just now. Have him look at the children before school is well begun. At the same time talk with the doctor about your own health. What is good for the children is good for you, too.

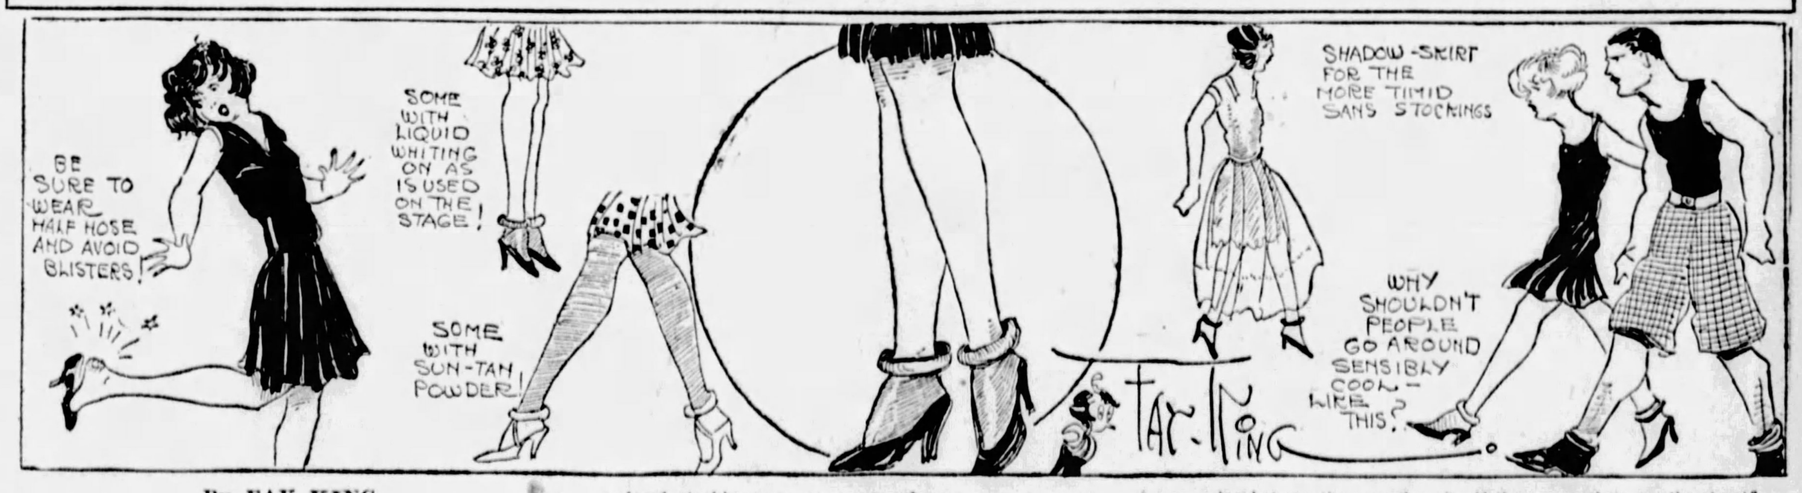
Fay King Approves Stockingless Urge for Girls in Hot Weather



BE SURE TO WEAR HALF HOSE AND AVOID BLISTERS!
SOME WITH LIQUID WHITING ON AS IS USED ON THE STAGE!
SOME WITH SUN-TAN POWDER!
SHADOW-SKIRT FOR THE MORE TIMID SANS STOCKINGS
WHY SHOULDN'T PEOPLE GO AROUND SENSIBLY COOL-LIKE THIS?
TAP-TAP-TAP

By FAY KING

DURING the recent heat wave many girls appeared on the streets sans stockings.

That they were stockingless was hardly noticeable, since flesh-colored stockings are seen everywhere.

The wise ones wore the small half hose. Those who braved shoes without any foot protection were soon limping along with blistered heels.

Nearly every one sheds stockings and socks in the house during hot weather, so why should they wear them on the street?

Like girls of the stage, I noticed those on the street had shaved their legs, and wore whiting, or tan-colored powder, which "dressed" the legs and made them look pretty much like they do on the stage.

PIRATES PRESS LEAGUE LEADERS

CORSAIRS ON HEELS OF CUBS, GIANTS

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

BEST IN PITTSBURGH — WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 29, 1928 — NINETEEN

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Bucs Practically on Even Terms With Three of Their Rivals and Best Bet of Lot to Overtake Cards—Chance to Cut Lead in Series Starting Tomorrow—Gridders Stirring.

TIED with Cincinnati for fourth place, only two points below Chicago and third place, and only six points below New York and second place, Pittsburgh must now be conceded at least an equal chance with any of the three other clubs named to overtake the St. Louis leaders and reach the top before the finish.

Joe Dawson

In fact the Pirates look like a better bet than the Giants, Cubs or Reds, as measured by their work since mid-season and their present form and pace. It's a man's size job to overcome a six-game lead when the Bucs and Cards have only 30 games each toplay, but a club that has won 37 of its last 52 contests, and that possesses the fighting spirit of the Bushmen, may be able to get away with it.

Besides there is a possibility that the Cards may slip. You never can tell. Only six days ago the Giants came here in first place. Today they are five and a half games below first place, and in such an insecure position that Pittsburgh can supplant them in second place this afternoon if the Bucs beat the Phils again and New York and Chicago are defeated.

FOR five days the Corsairs have been going it practically alone and unaided in pursuit of the leaders, as the teams meeting the Cards during that period gave no assistance, and McKechnie's crew has won five straight games as a result.

So it looks as if it will be up to the locals to do the job themselves. Their big chance is contained in the fact that they have seven games yet to pay with the Redbirds. The first three of these are scheduled for tomorrow, Friday and Saturday at Forbes Field, and if they can come out of that series with colors flying the Bucs will have a greatly improved opportunity to make a winning fight of it later on.

Glenn Spencer

IF THE law of average holds good, the chances ought to favor the Rovers in their remaining seven games with the Missouri outfit, as owing to their crippled state they won only four of their first 15 clashes with the Cards. That's anything but a normal showing for a club as strong as Pittsburgh, so perhaps things will balance up in the games to come.

Had the Pirates met with average success in their meetings with the Redbirds and won just seven of the 15 games, they would be tied with St. Louis for first place today, each club having a record of 73 victories and 51 defeats for the season.

THE second half of the double win over the Phils yesterday was particularly pleasing, as the feat of the Bucs in overcoming a four-run lead showed that they are in a fighting and hitting mood that will count for much in the important series opening tomorrow. With Adam Comorosky available and offering much promise after his splendid start, Charley Hargreaves in catching trim again and Burleigh Grimes likely to be O. K. by Saturday, the team is well fortified for the hard task ahead.

IN THE first of their two victories yesterday, a pair of wins that cut the Yankees' pennant lead in the American League to three games, Lefty Grove added another chapter to his remarkable pitching record. Beating the Whitesox 1 to 0, he hung up his twelfth straight triumph and his twentieth decision of the year.

While on the subject of pitchers it might be mentioned that Joe Dawson did another fine job of relief work when he supplanted Burleigh Grimes and held the Phils safe while his mates forged ahead and won out. It was the sixteenth apearance of Dawson as a relief hurler this year, and one of the few instances in which he has received credit for a successful outcome. In fact, it was the first victory marked up for him since May 5. His record is four wins and six defeats. Manager Bush soon will have an additional flinger for relief duty, at least. Homer Blankenship, recently purchased from Dallas in the Texas League, will join the Freebooters in Chicago on Sunday or in this city on Monday.

Buddy Overend

ONE of the young pitchers working in the minors under Pirate option has won a place in the spotlight by pitching a not-hit game. Glenn Spencer, the promising right-hander tried in the spring by the Pirates, is the hero.

Hurling for Columbia against Charlotte in the South Atlantic Association, Spencer not only won his game, 2 to 0, but did not give the opposing outfit the semblance of a hit. He was charged with one base on balls. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning on account of rain, but Spencer's teammates declare that he was going so strongly he probably would have maintained his perfect record had the contest gone the regulation distance.

WITH Pitt preparing to start next Sunday for the Windber football training camp, the other big local schools are making ready to start practice on

Pirates' Chances at a Glance

GAMES TO PLAY—PITTSBURGH, 30; ST. LOUIS, 30.

IF the Cardinals win 24 out of their remaining 30 games, the best the Pirates could do if they win all of their remaining 30 games would be a deadlock for first place. The standings would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
ST. LOUIS	100	54	.649
PITTSBURGH	100	54	.649

the Cards strike a slump and play only .333 ball, that is, win only one-third of their games, the Pirates could pass them by winning 17 out of their remaining 30 games. The standings would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
PITTSBURGH	87	67	.565
ST. LOUIS	86	68	.558

the Cardinals win 20 out of their remaining 30 games, the Pirates would have to win 27 out of 30 to win the pennant. The standings would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
PITTSBURGH	97	57	.630
ST. LOUIS	96	58	.623

the Cardinals split even in 30 games, the Pirates would have to win 22 out of 30 to pass them. The standings would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
PITTSBURGH	92	61	.597
ST. LOUIS	91	63	.591

New York, Chicago and Cincinnati, all closely bunched with the Pirates behind the Cardinals, face virtually the same situation as Donie Bush's club.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

AN interesting duel is slated for today in the Wrigley marathon swim of 10 miles for women in Lake Ontario at Toronto when Gertrude Ederle and Millie Gade Gorson, both of whom swam the English Channel, will be rivals for the lion's (or lioness') share of the $15,000 in prizes. More than 60 good swimmers have entered. Mrs. Lottie Moore Schoemmell also was slated to start, but withdrew because of the comparatively short distance and the warm water. This is to be a race for sprinters, she contends, and her forte is long distances.

JOHN HERNON, major domo at Motor Square Garden, is dusting off the seats and reinforcing the ring for the indoor boxing season, which he plans to inaugurate early in October. He has not yet definitely decided whether he will act as his own matchmaker or engage an assistant to

IN SCHENLEY TOURNEY

Miss Miller is the favorite to win the women's singles in the annual tournament of the Schenley Park Tennis Association now under way. She drew a bye in the first round yesterday. Miss Haffner lost to Miss Berglass after a hard fight in the first round, 6-1, 6-3.

CHILLY SAUCE By CHILLY DOYLE

PROVIDED Pie Traynor is able to stay close to his present stride he will finish among the "first five" batters this season. The Pirate captain clicked off five hits in nine attempts yesterday, his drives being of the stinging variety.

Fred Lindstrom threatens to finish ahead of Pie this season in batting, but Pie appears to have the upperhand and may get out in front of his worthy foe, there to remain. Both would be good third-sackers—if they could field and run.

AND speaking of field days, don't overlook Sprout Chic Sale Waner, who combed the Quaker pitchers for six hits during the long afternoon. Sprout made a garrison finish last year and rested at .355 by making three hits in the final game of the season. He has a rocky journey to reach those numerals this season, but don't make any foolish wagers on his chances of dropping below his first year mark.

Brother Paul slammed out three three-baggers in the twin bill, yet his batting mark showed a decrease at the end of his tumultous day. If Paul could have divided those wallops into singles he would have had nine for nine. What's that?

BURLEIGH GRIMES probably would have copped his twenty-third success had he remained on the mound, but it looked like good baseball to yank him. Burleigh was sure to work one of the impending fights with the Cardinals, and inasmuch as he toiled less than two frames he may be sent out to take on the Redbirds in the opener. Had he finished yesterday he would have worked the closing fight with the leaders.

And what about those Giants. Two defeats at the hands of the Braves at a time when victories were an urgent need were indeed "hard to take." The Giants, by the way, have lost eight out of their last nine battles.

M.-A. CHAMP TO PLAY BLUE RIDGE LEADER

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Tentative plans have been made for a seven-game series between winners in the Middle Atlantic and Blue Ridge Leagues, to start September 12.

A conference of officials of the two leagues, including President Elmer M. Dalby of the Middle Atlantic League, and J. V. Jamison of the Blue Ridge League, completed the arrangements here yesterday.

HERTLE, EDERLE LEAD

TORONTO, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—More than 50 women swimmers plunged into Lake Ontario promptly at 10 o'clock (Eastern daylight time) this morning in the third Wrigley marathon swim for the championship of the world. Thousands of spectators were massed along the water front as J. Allan Ross, the official starter, gave the signal which started the girl natators on the 10-mile grind for prizes totaling $15,000.

Conditions were ideal for the event with brilliant sunshine and a slight westerly breeze which caused only a faint ripple over the surface of the lake. The temperature of the water was about 60 degrees and the westerly wind was expected to make it warmer during the day.

Included in the array of 52 feminine swimming stars who took to the water were Gertrude Ederle, of New York, conqueror of the English Channel; Mille Gade Corson, the first mother to negotiate the same turbulent route; Millie Hudson, of England, and Ethel Hertle, New York, who covered the greatest distance of any woman entered in the marathon swim last year.

MISS HERTLE LEADS

The start was perfect, the swimmers getting away almost simultaneously with the crack of the pistol. Some dived in while others slipped into the water feet first.

As the leaders turned in toward the shore, completing a little more than two miles of the long plug within an hour after the start, Ethel Hartle swam easily in the lead. Miss Gatterdam clung to second place. Making no effort to take command

Ambridge Player S. A. R. Champ

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

THE testing course of the Ambridge Country Club has produced its first champion of the year. W. L. Blackstone, of that club, shot a 43-44-87, which, with his handicap of 20, gave him a net 67, seven strokes more than enough to win the second annual tournament of the Pennsylvania Society, Sons of the American Revolution, over the St. Clair Country Club course yesterday.

The tournament was well attended and proved to be an interesting affair. The new state champion played consistent golf, and, while his gross of 87 was seven strokes poorer than the best score of the day, R. T. Hambleton's 80, he was deserving of the triumph.

Hambleton had rounds of 40-40, his three-stroke handicap giving him a 77.

Seven strokes behind Blackstone came W. V. Campbell with a 53-51—104-30—74; George Jenks with a 42-46—88-14—74; J. D. Gervin, 45-52—97-23—74, and R. M. Sherrell, 44-47—91-17—74, all tied for second.

There were four tied at 77, J. F. Newman, G. L. Hays and W. H. Crosswell tying with Hambleton.

OAKLAND CLUB DENIES YANKS DROPPED OPTION

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Officials of the Oakland Baseball Club have denied reports that the New York Yankees have forfeited option money on Lynn Lary and Jimmy Reese, shortstop and second baseman of the Oaks, who have been sold to the American League team for 1929 delivery.

On the other hand, the officials were positive in their assertions that the two youngsters will be in the majors next season.

Uniontown Play Opens

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

THE waning net season flings violent defiance at the approaching gridiron campaign for the next week or more with no less than three interesting and important district tournaments on the book. Today at Uniontown, the annual Fayette county championships will get under way under the auspices of the Uniontown Tennis Club. This morning also sees real competition begin in the Central Pennsylvania championships at the Altoona Cricket Club, Altoona, Pa., though a few preliminary contests were run off yesterday.

On Saturday at the College Hill Tennis Club, Beaver Falls, the Beaver county championships, featuring the coveted Louis Ingram men's singles trophy, will lift the lid and continue over Labor Day. Thus local racqueters should have their fill of torrid battling before mid-September closes in to end the summer fun.

LOCAL STARS ENTERED

From the Pittsburgh angle, the Uniontown and Beaver Falls events take precedence over the Altoona conclave. Among the performers from this locality who will try their fortunes in the Fayette milling are Dave O'Loughlin, P. A. A. captain; his younger brother, Billy, who has lately returned from registering an impressive showing in the junior nationals; Bert Kelley, former Pittite; Tack Hammer and Don Snyder, Greensburg regulars, and Paul Sullivan, team-mate of the O'Loughlins, at the P. A. A. Two Winged Head girls, Betty Wattles and Miriam Sullivan, will likewise make the trip and hope to attain honors in the women's division.

Dave O'Loughlin will be seeking a third and final leg on the historic Uniontown Cup, which has been up for more than a dozen years and which boasts the names of such aces as Chuck Garland, Dr. Billy McElroy, Tom Cummins, Gwynn King and Kier Boyd. King is the present holder of the flagon. He will be on hand to defend his laurels and it is not unlikely that he and O'Loughlin will clash in the titular round.

Dr. John O'Loughlin, Western and Southern Pennsylvania champion, will strive to add the Central Pennsylvania crown to his collection while brother Dave is cavorting at Uniontown. The youthful dentist is enjoying the most fruitful season of his career and stands splendid chance of grabbing off the Altoona bowl, despite stern opposition to be offered by John Brown, Latrobe luminary, who already has two legs upon it, and by the Harrisburg youngsters, Lavine and Claster, who will probably be on deck for the contesting.

John O'Loughlin is the current possessor of the Ingram Trophy and will not be called upon to play through the all-comers' tourney at College Hill, but will meet the survivor of the open milling in ultimate foray for the cup. O'Loughlin copped at Beaver Falls in both 1926 and 1927.

LOMASK WINS PARK TITLE

Herbert Lomask is the new singles champion of the Schenley Park Tennis Association. In the final round of the annual tournament yesterday, on the Schenley Park courts, he defeated Jack Rosenberg in straight love sets. Play in the women's singles also got under way yesterday, with the following first round results:

Florence Schneider defeated Lillian Cohen, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4; Minnie Malin defeated Rena Foster, 6-2, 6-3; Mrs. Jack Howe defeated Mildred Yelin, 6-1, 6-0; Claire Berglass defeated M. Hoffner, 6-1, 6-3; Anna Cohen defeated Bertha Foster, 6-4, 6-1; Florence Schneider defeated Minnie Malin, 6-2, 6-1; Mrs. Jack Howe defeated Mrs. Joe Dieckhaus by default.

NOTES of the BOXERS

HOMER ROBERTSON, former local Negro middleweight, boxes George (Wop) Manolian in a 10-round bout in Boston tomorrow night. He wants to return here to meet anybody at 160 pounds.

Joe Dundee boxes Young Jack Thompson, of California, at Comiskey Park, Chicago, tonight, in a bout in which Dundee's welterweight title will not be at stake. K. O. Christner, of Akron, and Joe Sekyra, of Dayton, Ohio heavyweight rivals, will meet in the main bout of a show at Taylor Bowl, Cleveland, with Babe Herman and Johnny Sacco boxing the semi-final.

Clippings from Mariette O., newspapers say the 12-round battle between Jack Katkish and Tony La Rosa there last Thursday night was one of the hardest ever fought in that section. It was a sensational mix all the way.

Larry Brignolia of Erie and Young Saylor of Charleroi have been matched to box the 10-round main bout of a show at the Cambria county fair grounds at Ebensburg next Monday night (Labor Day). Brignolia holds decisions over both Saylor and Joey LaGrey. Rudy Cedar of Tarentum will box Bobby Richardson of Fortage in the semi-final of 10 rounds, Bobby Amster of Newark, N. J., and formerly of Johnstown, will oppose Teddy Welch of McKeesport in the second bout and Mickey Hart of New Kensington is matched with Johnny Chiodo for the opening bout. HARNESS MEET OPENS AT WASHINGTON TODAY

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 29.—The Keystone Short Ship Circuit harness horse meet at the Washington Fair here will get under way today with a program of three races, including the 2:24 trotting stake for a purse of $800.

Four harness races, including two stake events will be raced tomorrow; the big day of the track program. The meeting will conclude Friday with four races.

MRS. STIFEL WINS IN NEMACOLIN PLAY

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 29.—The Stifel family, of Wheeling, W. Va., believe in keeping golfing honors at home. Last year Miss Fritzi Stifel, one of the country's leading feminine golfers won the championship at the Nemacolin Country Club near here. This year she was too busy with other competition to enter the club championship, so her mother, Mrs. Edward Stifel took up the defense of her offspring's title, and annexed premiership honors.

Mrs. Stifel breezed through to the final with ease, but was given a genuine battle in the final by Miss Emily Wrenshall, of this city, whom she defeated 1 up.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY AT FORBES FIELD

Although the Phils suffered two defeats in their twin bill with the Bucs at Forbes Field yesterday, it was one of the downtrodden Quakers who gave the fans their biggest "kick" of the afternoon. Denny Southern, fleet middlefielder of the Phils, provided the thrill in the first inning of the second game when, with Grimes on the mound and two out, he pulled a clean steal of home. Denny is shown sliding safely across the home plate. The daylight theft so disturbed Grimes that he lost his effectiveness in the second frame. He was relieved by Dawson after permitting three runs in the second inning.

son in the night cap, but Grimes had an off day, he being shelled off the mound in the second inning. A steal of home by Denny Southern with two out in the first gave the enemy a little advantage at the outset, and the daring theft didn't do Grimes a bit of good. He was scored on three times in the second before he left in favor of Louisville Joe.

JOE STOPS PHILS

Dawson jumped into the breach like a champion. Joe stopped the rush of the invaders in the round and from that point on he had everything in fine control.

The Pirates had a field day on the offensive; they amassed 26 hits in the two games, 21 of the total being collected in the second struggle.

Lester Sweetland tried to swap punches with Hill in the opener, but the lefthander was chased off the mound in the fifth, Russell Miller finishing.

Ray Benge, a high-class right-hander who would grace any staff, opposed Grimes in the closing number but he found that the Buccos were not in the mood for being slowed down. The youngster gave way to Augie Walsh in the third. Lefty Milligan and Sweetland finished up in this contest.

Adam Comorosky reported to the Pirates from Indianapolis in time to play centerfield in the first game. Commy came through with three pretty hits, including a three-bagger and he played well in the field.

Manager Bush injected the Flying Pole in the lineup owing to the type of pitching used by the Phillies in the opener. Bush switched L. Waner into the left pasture for this contest.

NELLA R WINS

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—The Kentucky claiming stake, feature of an ordinary card at Saratoga yesterday, was won by the Linton Farms' Nella R chiefly because R. T. Wilson's Fantast, the favorite at 7 to 5, was the victim of a very bad ride.

YANKS BUY WELLS

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—The Yankees have announced the purchase of Edwin Wells, former Detroit and Washington southpaw, from the Birmingham Club of the Southern League. Wells, notorious in the big league for his gymnastic wind-up, will not report to the Yanks until next spring.

their own grounds. Graduate Manager Buddy Overend of Carnegie Tech returned from his vacation yesterday and got busy at once completing arrangements for the first Plaid workout, scheduled for next Tuesday, while on the Bluff, John D. Holahan, director of athletics at Duquesne University, continues the work of getting things in shape for the initial Duke drill one week from today.

Elmer Layden

THE Dukes will have one of the largest squads of candidates reporting at any college this fall. Not only are 37 of last year's players available again, but 35 new students have presented themselves to Director Holahan. Even more could have been enrolled, but it has been decided to accept no new line candidates weighing less than 185 pounds.

Coach Elmer Layden, who left his home in Brookline June 15 to spend the summer in Davenport, Ia., will return to Pittsburgh next Monday or Tuesday and will take full charge of the large and promising squad for the opening practice session.

LARRY SEAMANS PICKED TO RETAIN TITLE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 29.—Bloch, of Wheeling, was medalist with a card of 77 in the qualifying round of medal play in the Nemacolin Country Club championships. The first round of match play will start today and all finals except in the championship flight will be concluded with 18 holes of play tomorrow.

The finals in the championship flight will be for 36 holes and will be played Friday and Saturday. Larry Semans, defending champion, in the first flight, is favorite to win.

DELANEY VS. WALKER?

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—Joe Jacobs, manager of Jack Delaney, announced today he had received two offers from California promoters for a bout between Delaney and Mickey Walker, middleweight champion. The first offer came from Ancil Hoffman, San Francisco promoter, and the second from Wrigley Park promoters in Los Angeles. Jacobs said he probably would accept the Los Angeles offer.

JEANNETTE HIGH OPEN

The Jeannette High School football team, which promises to take rank with the best in Western Pennsylvania, is open for a game at Jeannette on September 29. Officials of schoolastic football teams wishing to play at Jeannette on that day should communicate with Joseph V. Harrick, Jeannette High football coach, at 711 Westmoreland avenue, Jeannette, Pa.

JACK BRITTON LOSES

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—Jack Britton's comeback was halted last night at the Queensboro Stadium when Pal Silvers, Brooklyn welterweight, won a 10-round decision from the former welterweight champion. Silvers won easily, landing effectively with a left to the head and short right uppercuts to the jaw.

HEENEY IN HONOLULU

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 29—Tom Heeney, of New Zealand, recent aspirant for the heavyweight crown, was visiting here today with his American bride. Hundreds of admirers turned out last night to see Heeney go through his paces in exhibition matches.

LEADERS LOSE TO JEANNETTE

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 29.—The Black Diamonds had their first place margin in the Mid-Atlantic League cut here yesterday when the Jeannette Jays won a 2-to-1 verdict in a hotly contested game. Temple outpitched Dean and Maxton.

At Johnstown, the Johnnies permitted the Colts to gain ground by losing a 4-to-3 game when the Colts scored three runs in the ninth inning. Conley's home run was the big punch of the inning.

Charleroi moved closer to the leaders by beating Scottdale in a slugging bee, 12 to 8. The Scots outhit the Governors, 15 to 14.

at his stage. Gertrude Ederle dropped back from her position just behind the leaders. Ruth Tower, the Denver girl, sprinted into the position behind the pacemakers and was swimming strongly as they passed the buoy.

Miss Hertle turned the buoy at exactly 11 o'clock, swimming swiftly with a 50-yard advantage over Miss Gatterdam. Coming through the gap from the breakwater, the leaders were neck and neck, but the New York Miss sprinted for the buoy. Miss Tower was another 50 yards back in third place, but 40 yards ahead of Gertrude Ederle.

As they passed the buoy, the field behind the leaders was checked in the following order: May Elwell, Revere, Mass.; Anna Belloit, Westfield, Mass.; Jane Thomas, Terre Haute, Ind.; Euphrasia Donnelly, Indianapolis; Mildred Moore, Buffalo, N. Y.; Edith Hardy, Toronto; Jewel Cheatwood, Terre Haute; Mary Carter, Cohoes, N. J.; Charlotte Gants, Providence, R. I.; and Jessie Chester, New York.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK

take care of these duties. He has several applications for the position on file. He may start in by staging shows only every other week on the theory that he can draw better crowds that way and give the fans better matches. If business is brisk he will go back to the program of weekly shows.

THE annual "Little World Series," between the pennant winners of the American Association and the International League, will get under way well in advance of the big World Series this fall. The minors will close their season eight days before the clubs in the majors and will begin their titular play September 25 or 26, while the big event of baseballdom is not scheduled to open before October 3. Thus the little fellows will get a play in the limelight that they have not known in the past.

As close as are the races in the two major leagues this season, the International League has it over them like a tent. No less than six clubs are in the running for the pennant in the big minor league of the East. The American Association also has a good fight on its hands, with five clubs having a chance to grab the bunting. Yet the magnates in both minor circuits report that business is not what it might be at the turnstiles.

WHILE in Philadelphia recently, I saw Jack Quinn, the aged pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, lose a tough game to the Detroit Tigers, and was greatly impressed with the work of the veteran who has been a big factor in keeping Connie Mack's club high up in the race. Jack went along blanking the Tigers, inning after inning, in a tough duel with Gibson, until finally his support collapsed and handed the game over to the enemy.

Quinn is a master workman under fire. With men on the bases he is as cool and businesslike and fast a pitcher as could be asked. Nothing seems to fluster him, and he keeps right on with his knitting, zipping the ball with amazing control to the weaknesses of the various batters. Worked in his regular turn, with several days' rest between games, he is good for a fine performance every time he is called upon, and it would be a treat to see him break into the world series money and limelight this fall. No more colorful feature for the series could be developed than a battle between Quinn and Grover Alexander, of the Cardinals, if these two clubs should happen to win the pennants in their respective leagues.

HAVING tried a little of everything in his effort to get somewhere in the heavyweight division, Young Stribling, the Georgia Peach of the ring, now passes on to the management of Leo P. Flynn, veteran handler of cauliflowers in and out of bloom. Leo will be remembered as the former matchmaker for the old Madison Square Garden, the onetime manager of the largest stable of fighters in captivity, and more recently as the last manager of Jack Dempsey.

Flynn may not be able to improve Stribling as a ringman, but he will get him a lot of ballyhoo and will have him in there fighting when the heavyweight eliminations get under way.

I was talking recently with a manager who has been in the business even longer than Flynn, and the name of Stribling came up.

"There," said this veteran, "is one of the great mysteries of the ring. He's a wow of a small-town fighter and a wonder at knocking out bums, but put him in a big city or against a fellow with ordinary ability and he looks like something the wind blew in. He ought to be a champion, but he lacks something. I don't know what it is, but that it is something of importance I have no doubt."

CHARLEROI, Aug. 29.—Charleroi baseball fans are planning for a Joe Drugmond day to be held on August 30, when the Governors play Fairmont in the last home game of the season. Drugmond is being sponsored by fans as the most valuable player in the Mid-Atlantic League.

Helen Wills, Partner Win

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—All but one of the eight seeded pairs entered in the forty-seventh annual national tennis doubles championships have survived the second round play on the courts at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Jean Borotra and Rene DeBuzelet, of France, seeded fourth in the foreign group, bowed to the Australians, R. D. Cummings and E. F. Moon. The scores were 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

The French pair's downfall, the first upset of the tournament, was not totally unexpected. They were forced to play three hours of rugged tennis Monday, when Edward Higgs and I. C. Collins, of England, refused to be conquered until they had held on for five sets.

Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, the French Davis cup players who are top seeded in the foreign group, came safely through three hard sets with H. W. Austin and J. C. Gregory, of England. The French stars, winners of the Wimbledon title recently, won the first two sets, 6-4, 7-5, and then lost five straight games to the British heirs. With the match set standing 1-5, the Frenchmen suddenly took the aggressive and won the next six games.

LOTT, HENNESSEY WIN

George M. Lott, Jr., and John Hennessey, seeded first in the American group, met with but slight opposition in their advance to the third round. They crushed Ricardo Tapia and Alphonso Unda, the Mexican pair, by scores of 6-0, 6-0, 6-2.

The second seeded American pair, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, also were favored by slight opposition. They had an easy time eliminating William Aydelotte and P. G. Rockafellow, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

R. N. Williams II, and Watson Washburn, ranking just below Van Ryn and Wilmer on the seeded list, disposed of Fred and Don Dixon, the Inter-Mountain doubles champions, 6-1, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. The other seeded home breds, W. W. Ingraham and A. W. Jones, continued in the tourney by defeating Carl F. Kamman and Charles W. Barnes, holders of the Missouri Valley doubles crowns.

Jack Wright and Willard Crocker, the Canadian Davis cup players, advanced at the expense of Harry Hopman and Jack Crawford, members of the Australian Davis cup team, 6-3, 6-4.

The greatest Australian threat, Gerald Patterson and Jack Hawkes, advanced into the third round, though they were extended almost to their limits by the youthful Americans, John Doeg and W. F. Coen, Jr. The scores were 6-4, 8-6, 6-4.

HELEN WILLS VICTOR

When the second day's play ceased, four pairs of Americans, two sets of Australians, one French and one Canadian couple were left to fight it out for the championship, which has yet to be won by any one but English-speaking racquet wielders.

Helen Wills, who successfully defended her National singles crown and then annexed the doubles title, while partnered with Mrs. Hazel Hitchkiss Wightman at Forest Hills, N. Y., is here to add another tennis crown to her collection.

The international court champion is teamed with Jack Hawkes, the Australian, in the National mixed doubles tourney. They drew a bye in the first round and advanced into the third bracket by speedily eliminating Marjorie Gladman and Christian Boussus by 6-2, 6-3.

Babe, Lou Act Costs Yanks Victory

HARTFORD, CONN., Aug. 29.—AP.)—Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig put on their famous home run act yesterday but it cost the New York Yankees a victory over the Hartford club of the Eastern League.

The game was all square, at 4 to 4, as the Yanks went to bat in the tenth inning. Ruth and Gehrig then hit successive home runs and hundreds of small boys, wildly excited, swarmed on the field as Gehrig crossed the plate. The umpire was forced to call the game and the score reverted to the ninth inning when the teams were tied.

Ruth also hit a homer in the first inning with two on.

SANDLOT BASEBALL

by TOM BIRKS

HERMES-GROVE came an inch nearer the second half championship of the City League last evening when the Dairymen dusted off Stowe Civics by a 3-to-2 score at Dean Field. Contrary to expectations Sammy Leon pitched the game, and gave the Rox aggregation plenty of trouble. His home run in the fifth was the deciding factor.

BUT the Carson infield sure did play a wonderful game. Everything that came in sight was snapped up, and Allebaugh, Briley and Welsh compare with anything in the league. However, had "Curly" Semler decided to play Leon's hit safe it might have been the turning point of the game.

WOJANIS pitched for Stowe and did a good job. A bad throw by Bill Latusick and Semler's try for a circus catch put the Rox boy in a bad way. It is hard to say what Bill Latusick was thinking of when he pegged to second with two out for that wild play that resulted in the third and winning run. Just because the baserunner was taking a big lead off the bag was not any reason to pull a throw from Latusick, and away went the ball into center field.

RELIANCE LIFE is far from being out of the fight, according to Manager Cochrane. The Insurance boys will play J. L. Thomas at Dean field this evening, and the Reliance must win to stay in the race.

THIS evening Stowe Civics will play the Stowe Independents at Stowe field. The boys have just won the Class B title and want to take a crack at "Nifty" Gardner's outfit.

BENELWYN SETS MARK IN SYRACUSE RACE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Benelwyn, driven by Ben White and owned by W. L. McCourtie, of Dallas, Tex., set a new record for the event yesterday in winning the $10,000 Empire State stakes. Benelwyn won the second and third heats after Fullworthy had won the first mile. Fullworthy shaded the record by one-fourth second going in 2:02 and then Benelwyn trotted the second heat in 2:01½.

Clara Barcom furnished spirited contention in all three heats but each time weakened in the stretch.

ARGENTINE POLO TEAM MAY LOSE MOUNTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—The loss of some of their horses by sickness threatens to impair the chances of the Argentine polo team in its matches with the United States next week for the championship of the Americas. In spite of all the precautions the South Americans have taken to prevent such troubles a slight coughing and fever has developed in a few of the Argentine mounts.

Although the ailment has not yet been diagnosed as anything serious, the invaders are exercising the greatest care. The ponies will not be worked for several days and are being closely watched.

THE VARSITY COLUMN

by JESS M. CARVER

Wanted: A cure for deafness. Apply to U. Hangartner, Line Coach Department, Line Coach Building, Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa.

MR. HANGARTNER, who travels in polite society under the Wagnerian name of Ulhardt and in football circles under the plain monicker of "Hank" or "Hey, Coach," is preparing to return to Bucknell for another football season as assistant to Carl Snavley, former Bellefonte mentor. This pair, working together very well, turned out a creditable eleven last fall, numbering Penn State among the teams defeated.

"I've got the best all-around halfback in the world," Hank declared at a football confab the other day, "except that he is a little bit deaf. He can carry the ball, back up a line, kick and pass like no body's business, but he has some trouble getting the signals and in hearing what's going on."

HANK compares this chap, Brumbaugh is the name, to Deihl, who graduated from the Lewisburg school this spring. Deihl, accoording to Hangartner, wasn't the great back he was cracked up to be, though he was no bum by any means. Hank looks forward to a highly successful campaign, for the Bisons only lost four men from last year's eleven and have some fine incoming material with which to work.

They must do a bit of studying down at West Point, despite charges by the Navy to the contrary. The Cadets have answered some of the slurs cast at them by the Middies by giving out the list of men promoted to the rank of officers and non-commissioned officers in the corps of cadets yesterday. Sixteen members of Biff Jones' varsity were included in the number. All promotions are based on a percentage system, in which every cadet in the two upper classes is considered.

SPRAGUE, captain and tackle on the football team, was made a sergeant, Muze, another tackle, was appointed a cadet captain, the highest rank of cadet officers, Draper, a back, and Louis Hammack, star academy wrestler, and football guard, both were made lieutenants. Hall, varsity center, is now a battalion adjutant.

YELLOW BALL GETS TRIAL IN MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—What is believed to be the first time a yellow baseball has ever been used in professional play was experimented with here yesterday in the second game of a double-header between Milwaukee and Louisville. President T. J. Hickey, of the American Association was here to see the result.

The new balls are said to have greater visibility than white ones, particularly with a bleacher background of white shirts. They are not easily discolored and therefore should give longer service.

Further experiments will be made and if successful the ball will be officialy adopted for 1929.

TOM LOUGHRAN TO BOX GROSS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Tommy Loughran, world's light-heavyweight champion, will start his campaign for the heavyweight title, recently relinquished by Gene Tunney, on October 1 or 3, when he will meet Jack Gross, of Salem, N. J., in a 10-round bout at the National League Baseball Park.

Loughran will concede Gross a weight advantage of about 20 pounds. The agreement is for both to fight at catch weights. Loughran is expected to weigh around 180 pounds and Gross about 200.

BRIDGEVILLE RACES TO DRAW BIG CROWD

Judging by the numerous requests for tickets one of the largest crowds of the year is expected to attend the two automobile races, scheduled next Monday afternoon (Labor Day) at the famous Bridgeville Speedway one of the best half-mile board tracks in the country.

The Bridgeville racing plant has the facilities for the parking of thousands of cars and many out-of-town visitors are expected to witness the two events scheduled Monday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock.

The main event on Monday's program will be a 75-mile affair, bringing together the outstanding drivers of the tri-state district. The 25-mile race will be a consolation event for the drivers that fail to qualify.

Bobby at Peak of Form

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Bobby Jones set a course record of 37-30-67 in the Warren K. Wood memorial tournament at Flossmoor, and led the field of American and British players by four strokes yesterday.

His 30 on the second nine lacked only one stroke of equalling the world record and his 67 was a new mark for the Flossmoor links. Jones scored seven consecutive threes, including an eagle on the 483-yard tenth, where he holed out his chip shot from a trap.

Jones' performance crowded into second place John Dawson, of Chicago, who had held the lead since early in the day with a 36-35-71.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Local Persons Major Figures in New Gas Company; Rail Project Presents Engineering Problems.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

LOCAL financial interests are taking a large part in the formation of a new natural gas company to operate in Utah. The company will have an authorized capitalization of $30,000,000, of which about $24,000,000 will be outstanding. The stock will be sold privately.

The name of the organization has not been determined. It will be a Delaware corporation. The incorporation papers were filed with five suggested names. One of these, which is not a duplicate of an existing corporation will be chosen.

THE company will operate in the Salt Lake City valley between Preston on the north and Toole Mity on the south. An output of 300,000,000 cubic feet a day has been obtained.

The group financing the new company is composed of interests active in the affairs of the Lone Star Gas Corporation, the Ohio Oil Company and the Prairie Oil and Gas Company. These organizations will not in any way be affected by the new company.

THE extension of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railway to Connellsville will be one of the biggest railroad projects undertaken in this district. The uneven terrain offers many engineering problems.

The road will cross the Monongahela River at a height of 170 feet and the Youghiogreny River at a height of 130 feet. A viaduct over Pigeon Creek will be 287 feet high. The line will pass through six tunnels. In spite of these heights, the grades will be kept at a maximum of 1 per cent.

Although the original cost was estimated at over $12,000,000 in the application made before the Interstate Commerce Commission, officials believe that the work can be completed for about $10,000,000.

WITHIN 10 days the Pittsburgh & West Virginia will place a second gasoline-electric car in operation. This unit will be larger than the first. It will have space for 80 passengers.

The production of such railroad equipment promises to develop into a profitable portion of Mack Truck's business. Gasoline-driven railroad cars are taking the passenger operations of many short line railroads and branch lines out of the red.

THE cars can be operated at about one-third of the cost of a steam train. While they cannot be used at a saving under heavy traffic conditions they replace the elaborate steam equipment and the full crews necessary to operate steam trains carrying only a few passengers.

The bus and the privately-owned automobile have seriously hurt railroad passenger business, but the gasoline car allows the railroads to give competition in a class with bus service.

THE gasoline-electric drive greatly simplifies the operation of the car. It solves the problem encountered in arranging gear shifts for such heavy equipment. Gasoline motors are used to operate generators which supply power for electric motors to drive the car.

The cars can be operated singly or in multiple unit, so that greatest possible flexibility in meeting changing traffic conditions can be secured.

The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company supplied the electrical equipment on the Mack rail car recently placed in service on the Pittsburgh & West Virginia line. This company has assumed a large share in the design and manufacture of similar equipment for other lines.

BUYING DELUGE SENDS STOCKS SKYWARD

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Public speculation in stocks reached gigantic proportions in today's market. Prices of active issues were marked up $1 to 11 a share, with nearly two score issues lifted to record high levels by early afternoon. So great was the volume of trading that the ticker fell more than 20 minutes behind the market.

Favorable trade news and easier call money provided the background for the advance. Call money renewed at 7½ per cent and despite the unusually heavy month-end demand for funds, the supply became so plentiful that loans were arranged in the "outside market" as low as 7 per cent in the early afternoon. Considerable mystery developed as to the source of these new funds, with talk again heard of foreign money being attracted here by the high interest rates.

Weekly steel trade reviews continued to emphasize the stiffening commodity prices, with ingot production being maintained at 80 to 85 per cent of capacity. Directors of the Glidden Company voted to increase the capital stock by 100,000 shares, present stockholders receiving one new share at $23 for every four shares now held. The last weekly freight traffic report was rather disappointing in that it made unfavorable comparison with the corresponding weeks of 1927 and 1926; but this was offset by the splendid character of the July earnings reports now being published.

Radio regained its old role as the market leader by soaring more than 10 points to 198½, again crossing General Motors in price. Midland Steel Products preferred ran up 7¾ points and American Smelting, Paramount Famous Players, Montgomery Ward, Curtiss, Wright and International Harvester sold 4 to 5 points higher. R. H. Macy (new stock) ran up more than 6 points and the "rights" jumped 11.

St. Louis Southwestern and Texas & Pacific, which established new peak prices at 105⅝, and 192½, respectively, featured the railroad group.

LONE STAR HIGHER IN LOCAL MARKET

NARROW PRICE CHANGES NOTED IN GENERAL LIST

Lone Star Gas showed further strength at the opening of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, moving up more than a point to 55, a new high for current trading.

The advance in Lone Star is unexplained in trading circles here other than that the company occupies a leading position in the oil industry and has been talked of as going into a combination with Columbia Gas later on. Last Saturday's announcement that big interests identified with Lone Star are associated with Prairie Oil and Ohio Oil interests in the formation of a new gas company to serve the Utah and Montana districts has also helped the local stock, although it has been stated officially that there is no corporate connection between Lone Star and the new company.

Aside from the trading in Lone Star there was little of interest in the list during the forenoon session. A few scattered trades in miscellaneous specialties comprised the entire business of the morning.

Arkansas Gas reflected the strength in Lone Star in a small way. The common stock moved up fractionally to the $3 level after having ruled between 2½ and 2¾ for some time.

Teachers Are Heroines To the Young and Old

It is to be hoped that none of the youngsters read the accounts of our school teachers attending classes at the teachers' institute to learn new things in the vast field of education. Such information reaching the children may destroy the cherished illusion that the teachers know everything.

In spite of the cartoons, valentines and jokesters a teacher still remains to the youngster in school pretty much of a heroine. The youngster sees the pedagogue as one who knows all about strange letters and figures, mountains and animals. That anyone could teach teacher is something to be, therefore, unbelieved.

As for the oldsters, they recognize in the constant effort to improve educational system, as evidenced in the teachers' institute, a comfortable situation. The more the teachers learn the less the parents will have to be bothered stealing away to the encyclopedia to answer the hundreds of questions their school-going children fire at them.

Mr. Shaw may be unduly harsh when he intimates that parents send their children to school to get rid of them as much as to have them educated, but there is no denying that our teachers do for our children a great many things that parents fail to do. A valuable arm of society, our school teachers. Long may they tell the boys and girls how much the farmer got for his eggs.

Society, Too, Has Share In Death of Two Babes

Society reads with horror of the mother in a nearby town held in connection with the death of her two infants—two of a family of seven children. Society now will take adequate steps to make the mother pay for the crime. It is unfortunate that society, with its clumsy machinery, must wait until such deeds occur before any attention is paid to mothers, so harassed by poverty and large families, that they are led to commit murder.

Responsibility for the death of the two infants may be directly charged to the unfortunate woman, but society at large, for failure to make progress in the alleviation of social ills, also must bear some share of this responsibility.

Nothing but a deranged mind could contemplate, even, the death of two innocents, much less put such a plan into execution, but certain deranged minds might be avoided if poverty would be attacked more skillfully by society at large.

In the cry of the babes as they were catapulted into eternity by an unnatural hand there may have been an equally distressful sound in the throat of the one committing the gruesome deed. In the blending of such fearsome voices society must hear a reproach.

The infanticides emphasize we have a long way to go before we can boast of our civilization.

Archbishop of Canterbury

Head of the Church of England.

THE MOST REVEREND AND RIGHT HONORABLE COSMO GORDON LANG, D. D., ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY, HEAD OF THE ESTABLISHED CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

This picture will interest all Episcopalians and many others.

It shows the costume worn by the new head of the established British Church.

The new Archbishop succeeded Dr. Randall Davidson, who resigned because the new prayer book was rejected by the Commons. He is an earnest, able man, a profound scholar.

Son of a clergyman, he went first to Glasgow University, then to Cambridge, and at the end of his first term won a scholarship at Balliol, Oxford. You may not know it, but that is a great honor—in England. He became president of The Union, took a "first in history," and was elected a Fellow of All Souls. Much honor in all that.

At first he studied to be a lawyer, but changed his mind and was ordained.

The new Archbishop of Canterbury was for twenty years Archbishop of York. He preached in this country and in Canada during the war. His expression indicates a sense of humor and much good nature. He is popular with working classes in Britain.

This picture is interesting because the bitter discussion about a new prayer book has raised a suggestion that the Church of England be dis-established. That means that Bishops should no longer sit in the House of Lords, and the government would no longer pay for the Bishops' palaces, salaries, etc.

Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 29.—Approaching Albuquerque, one comes upon the picturesque ruins of prehistoric civilizations. There are stretches of foundations and broken walls of communal buildings—the first of American apartment houses. It is one of the most colorful cities in the Union.

One sees the squat adobe houses with their windows and doors painted the green and pink of poisonous wall paper, Indians in their spring wagon seated by the side of their shawled and complacent squaws, herds of goats, cactus-eating burros, papooses in shoulder bags and circling buzzards.

And the train thunders into the spreading station of Albuquerque with its terraced plots of brightly tinted flowers, modern flappers, camera-slung tourists in plus fours, Indian rug, pottery and bow and arrow sellers—all like a sudden mirage in the desert.

The altitude is 4,900 feet and the air is dry and heady like tangy wine. Meeting every train are tubercular convalescents, bright-eyed with the hope of seeing someone from home to relieve the monotony of their isolation. The city's population is near 40,000.

A few miles from town are Indian pueblos—cliff dwellers, snake dancers and sun worshipers living precisely as they did years before the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock. There is an ineffable sadness about their shy yet engaging hospitality toward their conquerers.

Attracted by a beautifully colored clay vase, I inquired of the bronzed salesman his price. There was the despair of utter resignation in his: "Pay what you like. It no matter." Little Indian children with full skirts and plaited hair, too, sit about in dull apathy.

In their glorious days Albuquerque was the hub of the Indian country. They fashioned towns and cities with stone houses four stories high, irrigated fields and built ditches with the precision of skilled engineers. Then the white man came. And today they are almost aliens in their own land.

Gallup, N. M., is one of the high points along the old Santa Fe trail. The air is so light that during an influenza epidemic several years ago the town was almost decimated. It has often been seen in moving pictures as the locale for those wild western frontier dramas. Roaming wild dogs come down from the hills for scraps from the diners and sniff disdainfully at my poor little frightened city-bred pooch. He never looked such a classie before.

* * *

The only faux pas so far on the trip was in noticing the sign "Dangerous to lean out the windows," after I had done my leaning.

Arizona's distant back grounds of beauty unroll beyond Gallup. Puffs of white clouds laze through skies of lazulite. And there are endless miles of dry river beds. Scattered across the desert waste are primitive houses whose open doors and windows reveal bright walls of coral, lemon yellow and orange. Sandy cliffs rise to majestic grandeur and fall away to endless vistas of sage brush and alkali dust. All of which sounds as thought it might have been taken from a descriptive railroad folder. And maybe it was.

Flagstaff is a western town running true to scenario and wild west story writing form. It has its wide main street facing the railroad depot with its Commercial hotel, pool hall, bank, Bright Angel short order restaurant, curbstone hitching racks, spurs, chaps, neck bandanas, legs curved to the saddle and exposed six-shooters.

* * *

Tonight we cross the desert with its mysterious silence and creeping shadows. And tomorrow morning we will be among the blooming flowers and snow-capped peaks of Southern California.

What, no climate!

Misery Not Revolutionary

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

No notion is more commonly held, and none is more fallacious than this: "The more wretched, miserable and oppressed the people are, the readier they are for revolution."

It is one of those things that we go on believing just because it looks self-evident as the earth seems flat.

But it is not the oppressed workers who revolt, it is the thinkers.

It was not the laboring class that made the French Revolution; it was the encyclopedists and their disciples.

It was not the moujiks of Russia that caused the downfall of Czarism; it was the intellectuals. The Russian mob has always kissed the feet of its tyrants, and is kissing the feet of Trotsky the Obessed as obsequiously as it kissed the feet of Ivan the Terrible or Catherine the Obscene.

The Negroes of America did not revolt, it was the Northern Abolitionists—Garrison, Phillips, Stowe and the like—that brought on the war.

The docile German horde never threw off the yoke of the Hohenzollerns—France, England and America knocked it off.

Spain is at the tail end of social progress because misery and ignorance are endemic there.

You find workers most troublesome where they are best paid and have most comfort.

If a man will eat dirt and live in squalor it shows he has not spunk enough to revolt.

The American colonists that revolted from England were not slaves, peasants or moujiks; they were well fed and hard headed, also hard fisted.

Mistry does not cause social advancement, it impedes it.

The more well-being, intelligent, and comfortable conditions there are among the masses, the more ambitious they are, the harder it is to make them submit to tyranny, and the more dangerous they are.

The "dangerous" man is the Thinker, not the Sufferer.

Those whom tyrants have to fear are:

"Men, high-minded men,
Men who their duties know, and knowing dare maintain,
Prevent the long aimed blow,
And crush the tyrant while they rend the chain."

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Sea Mystery

THE ocean remains full of wonders and mysteries still. Its real significance to the human mind may be more nearly represented by the imagined marvels of Herman Melville's story of "Moby Dick" than my sober, scientific treaties which undertake to lay bare its secrets, though based only on knowledge that skims a little of its surface and remains profoundly ignorant concerning what goes on in its vast deeps and its world-embracing expanses, which cover NEARLY THREE-QUARTERS of the face of the earth. That fact needs sometimes to be emphasized.

How did this enormous quantity of liquid oxygen and hydrogen come to be deposited upon the solid globe? You will not find science ready with a decisive answer. It is like the perpetually recurring question about how the earth acquired its revolution around the sun and its rotation on its own axis. But, in whatever way the ocean came into being, the fact is evident that if the surface of the earth were all smoothed out to one level the ocean would cover it everywhere to a depth of almost two miles.

One of the most puzzling of all ocean mysteries has recently been the subject of special attention at the University of California. It is the production of light by minute sea organisms ("dinoflagellata"), which sometimes cover great areas of water with their congregated bodies and produce a marvelous illumination as if the surface of the sea were aglow with white flame. These displays are more frequent in the Pacific than in the Atlantic. During their prevalence ships moving through the areas affected are followed by wakes of mysterious fire, only visible, however, at night, for in the daytime the same areas have a rusty appearance and are mottled with patches of reddish color.

The swarms of minute organisms which cause these appearances develop with incredible speed and extend over many square miles. When this phenomenon is at its height, the ocean waves look as if transfused with fire. The effect is disastrous to some of the forms of sea life, perhaps through the poisonous character of the luminescent organisms when swallowed by other animals. Some investigators find the greatest puzzle to be the production of "light without heat." The secret of that is, according to Dr. C. A. Kobold, locked up in the metabolism of the strange organisms.

Almost everybody who has been much at sea has witnessed occasional displays of similar luminosity, but the "great epidemics of light" are comparatively rare, and apparently depend upon local conditions. A most impressive description of such an occurrence, under the name of "the white water," is contained in Charles Nipple's delightful sea romance of "The Green Hand." This manifestation is represented as being periodical in the Indian Ocean west of Bombay. Some of the peculiarities detected by scientific observation are indicated in the description, which is evidently based upon good authority if not upon personal knowledge.

The amount of surrounding illumination caused by the luminescence on the water is surprising. Shadows are lighted up and the atmosphere appears illumined as if by the rays of the full moon. But there is a weirdness about the mysterious light coming from the water, which deeply impresses the spirits of the beholders with a sense of something supernatural. These prodigies of the sea are as sudden and unaccountable in their disappearance as in their on-coming. The imagination is stunned by the thought of the myriads of tiny organisms that are required to cover such immense areas of the ocean surface, and of the inexplicable strangeness of the function which they fulfill in the marvelous ensemble of ocean life.

Once Overs

By J. J. MUNDY

Like Your Associates

THERE are men in your department that you do not like.

You make no effort to like them; in fact, you encourage your dislike by harboring your ill feelings.

You gain nothing by your antagonistic attitude.

As long as you must associate with certain people every day, you should be sensible enough to smother or change your feelings for those in the same group.

Dislike and hatred both leave marks on your soul that cannot be eradicated.

It is hard to do good work when you are annoyed by the proximity of persons you loathe.

Why entertain personal feelings against those with whom you must work?

You ought to school yourself to do good work regardless of who is near.

If you have not enough self-control to forget personalities during working hours, you are neither wise nor happy in your job.

You can't change other people, but you can change yourself.

Perhaps it is your own intolerant spirit that won't allow you to see the good in the one you dislike.

Concentrate on your work and learn to be oblivious of surroundings.

In this way you will do better and be happier.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Failure

IT is not granted all men to succeed
In their most-prized desire;
For many glows the dream, for few the deed
In bright, undying fires.

But he who fails, sometimes has lost no touch
Of manhood's splendid dower,
While he who treasures victory overmuch
Lessens his being's power.

Bitter the pangs of loss since time began,
And all find triumph sweet;
But failure's deepest depths are for the man
Who too much fears defeat.

Prophetic

THE United States Weather Bureau affirms the accuracy of many old weather "sayings."

For example, there is a highly reliable warning in the old jingle: "A rainbow in the morning is a shepherd's warning; a rainbow at night is a shepherd's delight."

Likewise, we are told, you can rely pretty thoroughly on the saying: "If the sun sets in gray, the next will be a rainy day."

All these weather proverbs, of course, were the result of observation and experience. Now the meteorologists come along and tell us the reasons why.

Great Passages from the Bible

Paul's Exhortation of Holiness

(Romans 12; 1-21)

I BESEECH you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.

And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.

For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith.

For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office:

So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another.

Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith;

Or ministry, let us wait on our ministering: or he that teacheth, on teaching;

Or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: he that giveth, let him do it with simplicity; he that ruleth, with diligence; he that sheweth mercy, with cheerfulness.

Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good.

Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another;

Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord;

Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer;

Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality.

Bless them which persecute you: bless, and curse not.

Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep.

Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits.

Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men.

If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men.

Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord.

Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head.

Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was an oil man in Oklahoma that made so much dough he just couldn't find any place to keep it. So he had him a big house built. Well, it was about as big as necessary to house two national political conventions of opposite parties at one time. And he liked to show his friends around it.

One day this oil man had a rich man from New York visiting, and he was putting on an extra good show. He told him how much everything cost, and he come to a big stained glass window.

"This is the biggest stained glass window in the world," he says, "and it was made by some big Italian, I forget his name. Cost me a hundred thousand cash, no discount."

"Yes," says the visitor, "but ain't it a pity some of these lower panes are cut badly with a glass-cutter or something, scratched, you know. And there are little holes in some of the upper panes. Too bad."

"Never noticed that before," says the oil man. "Say, Clara, will you please take all the diamonds away from the children, since they don't know how to play with them. And tell the boys that if they shoot any more of those pearls through the windows with their bean-shooters I'll have the coachman spank them good."

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

MENCKEN, talking with a friend who was leaving New York for Los Angeles:

"Well, if you see Aimee Semple McPherson, kiss her little hands for me. You know I never fell for but two women in my life, Aimee and Mabel Willebrandt, the lady who catches bootleggers!"

A woman in St. Charles, Ill., announces that at 109 years of age she is well and happy. She attributes the fact to having lived on mush and milk for 109 years.

She calls that "living."

Three men at luncheon in a Sixth avenue cafe in New York. These are bits of the conversation:

"Well, I'll tell you how you can save about three yards. If you lay it on the goods lengthwise and cut the long pieces first."

"Well, another way to save is to fold the hem and then put the fringe on after it is stitched."

"I like the valances, and I don't think it matters about the size of the room. They finish a cover."

At the next table two women:

"I told him he could do as he pleased, but I refused to be cooking meals for any man, with a restaurant around the corner where you could eat cheaper."

"Try one, dear. I've smoked cigarets that were stronger. They are a kind of baby cigar, but they come in packages as small as a cigaret box and they are much sweeter—oh, much sweeter."

"I hear you are going to make speeches for Hoover?"

"No, I gave that up. I've started a machine shop in the village."

A letter from a man in St. Louis says that I stressed the point of not letting "adapted children know that they are adapted."

It's the children who "adapt" the parents to the modern order of things. The grown-ups merely "adopt" the children.

A girl in a flowered chiffon dress, dainty and designing. She is leaning over the table, looking into the eyes of a man who is "hipped"—temporarily.

She talks a while and then, shaking the ashes from his cigaret, he says: "Well, how much would a Ford coupe cost?"

A half hour later I looked again. They had been served with things in the interim. She was saying:

"I'd like to travel abroad for two years. Not alone, of course, but with someone I liked, Emily or Lulu, for instance. It would do me a lot of good."

Just his good luck that the ticket offices were closed at that hour.
